Girls Die Within 9½ Hours Of Birth

Death Takes All Of Quints Born To Wife Of Airman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Baby D, the last survivor of the Hannan quintuplets, died at 6:40 a.m. today.

Word of the death of the last baby spread rapidly through this vast modern hospital which is called the largest and finest in the entire Air Force.

The basement cafeteria was crowded with nurses, and military personnel coming to work.

"Oh, my God, they were just like baby dolls," half sobbed a technician in a blue dress. The word spread quickly from table to table. Several persons left their breakfast uneaten.

The mother and father were asleep at the time of the last quint's death. They were not told immediately.

Both had been in a near shock status at times during the night, hospital spokesmen said, and had been given sedatives in an effort to ease their nerves.

The last baby to die was the fourth born.

The physician who made the last desperate effort to save the baby was Capt. William D. Munroe who had been on duty since 11 p.m. Tuesday. He had worked almost constantly on the one child throughout the long night.

Four of the five toylike girls died within 9½ hours of their birth Tuesday.

They were the children of 1st Lt. Charles G. Hannan, 29, and his 27-year-old wife, Cecelia, already the mother of two small boys.

"You wanted a girl," the blonde, pretty mother told the crewcut father. "Now you have five."

But Baby B, so designated to indicate order of birth, died at 5:40 p.m. CST. Baby A died at 6:10 p.m. Baby E died at 9:25 p.m. and Baby C at 10 p.m.

Capt. William D. Munroe, pediatrician on duty, said at 1 a.m. that the diagnosis then for baby D "is guarded and the outlook is not good for the surviving child." He added that he is "not very hopeful" that the baby would survive. Doctors warned from the first that the babies' chances of survival were slim.

MRS. CHARLES HANNAN
Gave Birth To Quintuplets But None Survived.

The births, a 42-million to one medical rarity, represented the third set of quintuplets in United States medical history and only the 47th in all recorded annals. They were three months premature.

Baby A weighed 1 pound 9 ounces, B weighed 1 pound 13 ounces, C 1 pound 8½ ounces, D 1 pound 13 ounces and E 1 pound 13 ounces. Baby D, the strongest, was

Decision On Injunction Still Awaited In Strike

Holtz To Sell Bus Runs To Tri-State Co.

Council's Action Due Friday On Transfer Of Operating Rights

John R. Campbell and Donald W. Barnes, operators of the Chester-Newell bus line for the last four years, signed an agreement Tuesday night to buy the East End and Midland runs of the Holtz Transportation Co., subect to approval of the franchise transfer by City Council.

Campbell and Barnes, whose firm is called Tri-State Transit Co., acted quickly to close the deal after Council took the first step Monday night to revoke the East End franchise held by Holtz. Declaring that Holtz failed to live up to an agreement to improve the quality of his service and his rolling stock, Council voted unanimously to invoke a clause that gives it the right to cancel the franchise after 60-day notice.

Andrew H. Holtz, operator of the Holtz concern, gave notice of the sale of his two runs to Councilman William Y. Orr, chairman of the franchise committee.

Orr said President B. E. Warner expects to call a special meeting of Council Friday afternoon or night to consider granting a franchise to Barnes and Campbell.

Because of the new development, the city apparently will not have to go through complicated legal maneuvers to cancel the Holtz franchise, as the operator will be surrendering it voluntarily or transferring it when the sale is completed, Orr pointed out.

The fate of the Holtz concern's Wellsville run still has not been determined, but Orr said Holtz indicated he would like to continue to operate that part of his business.

Council's control over any bus line extends only as far as the city limits. The section of the Holtz line from the city limits along the "super-road" and in Wellsville proper is subect to control of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, as is the section of the Midland run east of the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

The Tri-State Transit operators gave Holtz a down payment and the two parties signed papers tentatively closing the deal. The transaction will be completed and the balance of the price will be paid when the new operators receive their franchise, they said.

Campbell said Tri-State has sufficient equipment to take on the new runs and provide adequate service. He said the firm acquired two buses that are in good condition about six weeks ago in Clarksburg.

Tri-State expects to provide night service to East End, as it has for Chester and Newell since taking over the runs four years ago, he said. At present East End does not have night service. Tri-State's service to Chester and Newell extends from 5:30 a. m. to 11 p. m.

The concern expects to provide night service to East End at intervals of an hour and a half, except on Thursdays, when stores are open until 8:30 p. m. On Thursdays, the company plans to give half hour service until the stores are closed.

All three of the local bus companies were formed in late 1955 after the former Valley Motor Transit Co. discontinued its area-wide service. In the early stages of his operations, Holtz also served Pleasant Heights, but he disposed of that section of his operations not long ago to John Young of East Palestine, operator of Inter-City Transit Co. Inter-City also serves the Grandview line, Calcutta and Glenmoor.

Orr commented that the franchise committee was pleased to see the future of the East End and Midland runs apparently settled quickly, rather than at the end of a 60-day wait for franchise cancelation, as that would have brought the change-over at the height of the Christmas shopping season in mid-December.

CONFER IN PITTSBURGH. Arthur Goldberg, United Steelworkers counsel, confers with Steelworkers President David J. McDonald during a recess period in federal court in Pittsburgh. The USW is battling a Taft-Hartley injunction which would force 540,000 steelworkers back to the mills for an 80-day cooling off period. (UPI Telephoto)

Resumption Of Hearing Is Delayed

Appeal Could Hold Up End Of Strike If Injunction Granted

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Resumption of a federal court hearing to determine if a Taft-Hartley injunction will be used to end the 99-day steel strike was delayed today as the presiding judge pored over his law books and conferred with attorneys.

"He got up at the crack of dawn," said an aide of Judge Herbert P. Sorg.

The hearing, which began Tuesday, was to have resumed at 10 a.m. Shortly before 11 a.m. Judge Sorg was still in his chambers conferring with government attorneys and counsel for the United Steelworkers.

Even if an injunction is granted an end of the strike could be delayed by an appeal. The court could—but would not have to—stay the injunction while an appeal was acted upon.

The government argued Tuesday that lost steel production was threatening the nation's health and safety. The striking United Steelworkers Union said the strike was creating hardships but was not endangering the national economy.

U.S. District Judge Herbert P. Sorg took the case under advisement after listening to arguments by both sides for nearly three hours. President Eisenhower ordered the Justice Department to seek the injunction.

The Steelworkers Union and 96 steel companies were named defendants in the case. The steel firms represent almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel production capacity.

An injunction, if issued by Judge Sorg, would send the half million striking steelworkers back to the mills for an 80-day cooling off period.

Meanwhile, the industry and the union would be under court order to try and negotiate a permanent settlement in the long and costly dispute.

Asst. Atty. Gen. George C. Doub told Judge Sorg that 265,000 workers have been idled by the strike in addition to the half million strikers. He said unemployment would continue to mount if the strike continues.

"Such a strike is an invasion of the rights of the publc. We are here by virtue of a tragic failure of collective bargaining," he added.

Arthur J. Goldberg, the union's general counsel, argued the government has no facts to support ts contention that the strike threatens the well-being of the country.

"If an injunction is granted, the great sacrifices which the steelworkers have suffered will have been largely in vain," he told Judge Sorg. "Their strike will be broken."

Goldberg argued that the government must prove beyond doubt that a national emergency exists now before an injunction can be invoked under the Taft-Hartley law.

Under terms of the Taft-Hartley law the workers could be kept in the mills for 80-days. After that if a settlement is not reached they would be free to resume the strike without government interference.

Stronger Competition With Soviets

Ike, Space Chiefs Confer On 'Pressing Problems'

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower meets with top space advisors today in an attempt to solve a pressing national problem: How to push the U.S. space program into stronger competition with the Soviets.

Specifically, this is what is at issue:

1. What to do about the Army's Saturn program at Huntsville, Ala. the Saturn, a gigantic cluster of eight rocket engines, will have 1½ million pounds of thrust, half again as much as anything the Soviets have developed.

2. What to do about the Army Ballistics Missile Agency at Huntsville, the crack team of rocket experts headed by Dr. Wernher von Braun.

The Saturn program has been suffering from malnutrition. Word has come down that its funds have been cut from 135 million dollars to 70 million. Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, who has headed this effort, has just resigned, although he says his resignation was not a protest action.

The problem is that Saturn has no immediate and direct military application. Its huge thrust is five times more than is needed to fling atomic warheads between continents. Its value is in the exploration of space.

Medaris, in a New York speech Tuesday night, said the Saturn program "is our best present bid for parity" with the Soviets in this field.

"I am personally convinced," he said, "That we cannot afford not to compete with whatever it takes to win. I do not believe that we are prepared to abandon any part of the universe to the undisputed domination of communism."

Eisenhower scheduled his high powered advisors' meeting just before leaving for five or six days of golf at Augusta, Ga.

Summoned to the White House were Dr. T. Keith Glennan, civilian space administrator; Dr. George Kistiakowsky, the President's science advisor; Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy and his deputy, Thomas S. Gates; Dr. Herbert York, the Pentagon's director of engineering and research, and Acting Budget Director Elmer Staats.

The presence of the budget official could mean Eisenhower is leaning toward the idea of placing Saturn under the civilian agency, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Top Pentagon officials, including McElroy, now favor this course.

Von Braun also spoke out on the problem Tuesday, saying "instead of wasting time and energy in ponderous re-appraisals and re-examinations, we ought to pitch in to get the show on the road and get it into space."

Von Braun said he had no intention of resigning from his key job as head of the Huntsville scientific team even if the project was shifted from the Army to NASA. But he said he and his scientists need a "pleasant atmosphere" to work in.

Vote On Tibet Issue Slated Today By U.N.

Watered-Down Plan Makes No Mention Of Communist China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The General Assembly headed for a vote today on Tibet, an issue that has sparked sharp East-West exchanges and caused apprehension among many Asian delegates.

The vote will come on a watered-down resolution by Ireland and Malaya to put the assembly on record reaffirming the right of the Tibetan people to choose their own way of life.

The resolution makes no mention of Communist China or the charges that the Peiping government brutally stamped out an anti-Communist uprising in the Himalayan land of the Lamas last spring. The sponsors eliminated such charges in hopes they would allay the fears of Asian neutrals.

The resolution received strong support from the United States, which accused the Communist of trying to frighten delegates away from discussing the issue.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge made the charge after Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov declared consideration of Tibet by the assembly would only aggravate the cold war.

"We have been asked to believe that it is all right for the Chinese Communists to kill Tibetans but that is a provocation for us to talk about," Lodge asserted.

Many Asian and African delegates have privately expressed resentment over having to vote on a resolution that may have the support of their people but which their governments don't want any part of. Countries next door to Red China are particularly reluctant to take any stand that might arouse the ire of their big Communist neighbor.

Pottery Crew Walks Out In Union Dispute

Warehousemen walked off the job today at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. in what the company said was a jurisdictional dispute over whether certain work should be performed by warehousemen or ware-dressers.

But officials of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters have indicated the strike is "illegal and uncalled for" and expect to tell the workers to return to their jobs pending a settlement, the company said.

The firm said its operations will be slowed if the warehousemen fail to return immediately and that all production will be forced to a halt within 2 days if the walkout does not end. Knowles employs 650 to 700 persons.

The company said several conferences were held with the employes, but they refused to accept the company's interpretation of the issues involved and were working under protest. The company said the firm's contract with the IBOP calls for work to continue while such an issue is settled by negotiation.

The workers met privately this morning to talk over their grievances and then walked out without notice to management, the company said. The firm said it hopes the workers will return today in order that settlement of the dispute can continue.

Police Wage Boost Asked At Wellsville

Council Committee To Study Request Of 15% Filed By Chief

The Wellsville police department petitioned City Council for a wage increase Tuesday night.

In a letter signed by Chief John B. Hephner, the department asked for a 15 percent monthly increase. The request was referred to the finance committee.

Hephner, speaking for the department in the letter, said it is felt the request is reasonable at this time. The department also requested immediate action.

In other business, legislation was adopted appropriating $1,500 from the water depreciation fund to pay for repairs to the city filtration plant.

The repairs have been completed. The legislation was delayed at the last meeting because not enough members were present to adopt it under suspension of rules.

The finance committee was asked to check if there is enough money to install two new street lights on Wood St. between 8th and 10th Sts. The street and light committee recommended they be erected.

Councilman Ancel Moore, street and light chairman, complained of the condition of Nevada St. He said it was sealcoated this summer but that it is full of holes.

He said trucks from the Allied-Ashland Oil Co. Terminal travel over the street and the heavy loads break down the blacktop. Paul Ice, clerk, was directed to write a letter to the firm, requesting that a representative meet with Council to discuss possible aid on repairs. Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson said not much hauling has been done from the terminal in about three months.

Robinson, upon receiving complaints from Council, said the Hammond Park water line extension project has been delayed and that a compressor is not due until Oct. 28. Kevan Construction Co. has not installed all the lines. The project was due for completion by the end of September.

Councilman Robert Runyon pointed out roads in Springhill Cemetery are in bad condition. Money is needed for repairs, he said. He also suggested that a 1-mill levy be placed on the ballot for this purpose and then removed when the roads are all resurfaced. The street and light committee was asked to check the cost of such a project.

Robinson was asked to check the

Discuss Allied Differences

Ike, Herter Study France Go-Slow Plan On Summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower met with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter today apparently to consider France's go-slow approach to an East-West summit meeting.

In a 40-minute conference at the White House the two were believed to have talked over ways to settle the backstage Allied dispute on the timing of a meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Afterward, Herter declined to say anything about their talk, leaving all that to the President.

While the two were in conference, the French government announced its approval in principle for an East-West summit meeting, but approached it as business for next spring.

Eisenhower is understood to have proposed a summit session of the Western powers early next month in Paris, preliminary to a possible session with Khrushchev in the first 10 days of December.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were reported ready to accept Eisenhower's plan but the Paris announcement in effect reaffirmed French President Charles de Gaulle's reluctance to hurry the matter.

Eisenhower and Herter appeared confident, however, that backstage talks would iron out this hitch within the next few days while the President golfs and rests in Augusta, Ga.

Mainly to reassure De Gaulle, however, Eisenhower has expressed readiness to fly to Paris for the Western strategy meeting.

Boy Killed On Trestle

MAPLEWOOD, N. J. (AP) — Daniel Bolger, 9, was killed at a trestle Tuesday night by a train as a playmate watched. The two boys had gone to play near the tracks after school.

Gen. Marshall Laid To Rest At Arlington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall rests today on a Virginia hillside overlooking Washington, where he served so long as a man of war and a man of peace.

He was buried Tuesday at Arlington National Cemetery near the Tomb of the Unknowns.

Two men whose careers were closely intertwined with Marshall's attended the services at Ft. Myer Chapel.

They were President Eisenhower, who was plucked from obscurity by Marshall to become Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces in Europe in World War II, and former Prsident Harry S. Truman.

Eisenhower and Truman, cool to each other since politics put them on opposite sides of the fence, nodded solemnly and shook hands. They had not met face to face for six years.

After Marshall had guided America's Army through World War II as chief of staff,

Intruder Obtains $130 From Home In East End

An intruder obtained $130 in bills in the bedroom of an East End home sometime between Sunday and noon Tuesday, police reported.

The loss was reported by Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Lewis, 1542 Globe St., who said there was no sign of a forcible entry.

All the money was taken from a second-floor bedroom on the south side of the home, officers said. The thief removed $60 in $1 bills in two separate envelopes from a dresser drawer and $70 in various denominations which was kept in a clothes press. The $70 included 2 $20 bills, 2 $10's and 2 $5's, officers said.

Ohio Gets Cold Front From Northern Lakes

COLUMBUS (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook!

An area of high pressure moved through the northern Great Lakes Tuesday night, pushing a cold front through Ohio. The front early this morning was along the Ohio River.

Cloudiness this morning was confined to the northwest section of the state. Fog again formed along the Ohio River while the remainder of the state had clear skies.

Moldmakers Expected To Snub New Proposal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Federal Mediator William Rose said today he anticipates the American Flint Glass Workers Union will reject a counterproposal from the glass container industry to end a 38-day strike of some 2,000 moldmakers.

'Intentional' Damage To Atomic-Sub Probed

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (AP) — Damage "apparently intentional," to the nuclear submarine Nautilus is under investigation today at the Portsmouth naval shipyard where the world's first atomic-powered vessel is being overhauled.

Capt. Carl A. Johnson, acting shipyard commandant, who so described the damage, said it appeared limited to electrical cables.

The Navy in Washington said the damage "does not extend to the nuclear reactor plant."

Most Steelworkers At Bar Opposed To T-H Injunction

MORRISVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Take it from bartender Tom Kane, most of his steelworker customers aren't too happy about the prospects of going back to work under Taft-Hartley injunction. And they're 100 per cent behind United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald.

"It's like a hammer over their head," Kane declared today. "They're eager to go back to work but not under the Taft-Hartley law. They'll follow their leader, McDonald, and if he says go back to work they'll go back."

Kane said that about 80 per cent of his customers at the Morrisville Gardens are steelworkers from the Fairless Hills Plant of U.S. Steel Corp. here. The long strike has idled some 7,000 employes of the plant.

One of the customers, Harry Lykens, 33, said that he felt very bitter about the situation.

"The steelworkers that I've talked to," Lykens said, "are opposed to the Taft-Hartley injunction. And they're very bitter. Even the ones with eight or nine kids who are really hurting.

"The people who never have seen the inside of a steel plant and the conditions we work under don't know how bitter the steelworkers are today.

"We sacrificed this much and now it turns out this way with nothing solved. If industry defeats labor we're on our way back to the dark ages.

"I'll bet you ten dollars to a nickel we'll be out on strike again at the end of the 80-day period if the Taft-Hartley is invoked. That's not going to help the country."

Rural Group To Meet

LISBON — A family life report will be given when the Not Who But What Home Demonstration Group meets Tuesday from 1 to 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Tony Pandin on S. Johnson Rd. off the Georgetown-Homeworth Rd., according to Miss Julia Shank, Columbiana County extension agent in home economics.

Training Slated For Scout Groups

LISBON — Cub Scout masters, den mothers and cub committeemen of the Shawnee District of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council will be offered a basic training course Saturday at the Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall in Salem, according to Leonard McDaniel, district executive.

The faculty will be headed by Calvin Filer, council commissioner, and Rollin Herron, cubmaster of Pack 3 in Salem.

Subjects for cub leaders will include pack administration, use of literature and forms, program planning, den and pack activities, games and songs and other material.

The course was originally scheduled for Oct. 17 but was changed in order to obtain a better faculty.

With the fall reorganization of packs, nearly 100 persons are expected to attend. The basic course will be followed in a few weeks by advanced training on a councilwide basis, McDaniel said.

Two Rights Can Make A Wrong

Steelworkers who criticize President Eisenhower for not forcing them back to work long before this, if he was going to use the Taft-Hartley Act at all, show ignorance of the law.

No injunction to make a strike-paralyzed industry go back to work can be issued unless the strike has caused a national emergency.

Emergency conditions now exist. The presidential fact-finding board has catalogued them. Aside from a shortage of steel, itself, the most threatening condition is the long stoppage of iron ore transportation via the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

When the freeze-up happens, ore supplies will be low no matter how soon the ore fleet can go into action. An ore shortage could hobble steel production as long as the second quarter of next year.

It is this kind of prospect that the people of the United States have a right to avert by giving the federal government the power to seek and grant an injunction.

But at the same time it is this kind of prospect that the Steelworkers — or any other union — must depend on to win a strike.

THAT IS ONE reason for the ceaseless effort of union leaders to get rid of the Taft-Hartley Act, which asserts that in one stage of a bitter-end strike the people have the right to protect themselves against the union's right to strike.

The union's right, of course, is the companion of management's right to say No to what it believes is an unreasonable union demand. Thus, the Taft-Hartley Act affirms, in effect, that whenever these two rights are used to create a wrong, the people have a temporary right to protect themselves against it.

They can make a paralyzed industry go back to work for 80 days, provided a national emergency exists. At the end of this time, if no remedy for the paralysis has been found, the striking union and the management of the industry being struck can resume the strike.

As far as spokesmen for unions are concerned, the law that makes this possible never has been given the benefit of a doubt. They have cursed it and misrepresented it for 12 years. They have flouted it and tried to avoid it—and they have given it a bad name among their followers.

The public is entitled to some small degree of protection from the union-management warfare that blazes up periodically. That is what the steel strike of 1959 is — warfare. The presidential fact-finding board has pointed out there are no negotiable issues; that this is no ordinary strike.

AN 80-DAY resumption of steel production will not amount to much. But it will be just that much more steel production than the public could get in any other way. It will postpone the starve-out that may come later.

It is rare these days for the rights of the people to be asserted. It is as though all minorities had rights that superseded the rights of the people, themselves.

For what it may be worth, the Taft-Hartley injunction clause is an attempt to protect all the people from part of the people. It doesn't amount to much, but then neither do the rights of all the people any more when they get in the way of hard-fisted minorities.

The great distinction of the American way of looking at things is that even an unorganized majority has a right to protect itself.

Rosy-Reds Against Dove-Grays

Generalizations about European politics are too thin to be skated on safely. But observations about the decline of European socialism have been so numerous since the thumping Conservative victory in the British election that one generalization about the generalizations themselves, is tempting.

Socialism is on the defensive in Britain, France and Germany. It is not in the ascendary anywhere in Europe, except Scandinavia, where no alternative has been offered and where socialism has ceased to be an issue.

The steam that carried the social democrats so far so fast after the end of World War II has condensed. The social democrats, themselves, know they are losing momentum, but they do not know what they can do about it.

If they become more like their first cousins the Communists, which will be the natural reaction of the zealots among them, voters will brush them off as poor substitutes for their more firmly dedicate ideological relatives.

If they become more like their gadflies, the moderates, voters will push them into the discard, because no one who has professed to be a socialist can change his spots to moderation without raising more questions than he answers.

The effect of what is being referred to as the end of an era in European political trends is to put the moderates at one position of the spectrum and the extremists in the opposing position—to identify the moderates as conservatives and their opposites as Communists.

There is no place in the spectrum for degrees of moderation or extremism. A voter is one or the other. He does not claim to be a varying degree of black or pink. He is either rose-red or dove-gray.

If he turns out to be pretty much the same ideological color in the United States a year from next election day, generalizations about politics on this side of the Atlantic will be as common as they are now in Europe.

No one ever claimed the United States was socialistic—not even the creesping socialists who pretended it was.

The Hobgoblins Are Coming

Approaching Halloween can be fraught with more hazards than Hobgoblins unless district parents, children and motorists take special precautions.

Danger lies in flammable costumes, dark streets, sharp-pointed toys and other accessories for the spook season.

Parents should make sure costumes are flameproof and light-colored so they may be seen easily at night. Clothing shouldn't be too long or loose so as to trip wearers or catch on bushes or fences.

Masks sometimes can be dangerous, since they restrict vision. False faces easily can be painted on children, using cosmetics and burnt cork.

Youngsters can be hurt carrying a candle, torch, knife, sword or other sharp instrument. Equip your goblin with a flashlight and a dummy knife.

In the case of the younger children, parents should know how long their youngsters will be out, where they will be, and if they are under supervision.

Children should be reminded not to dash into streets and not to play in traffic areas. Motorists should be especially careful, since more children are on the prowl during the Halloween period.

Those to be "haunted" should wrap treats for the tricksters to insure cleanliness.

Porch lights should be kept lit and breakable objects and furniture should be removed from the lawn, steps and porch to insure home safety.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Charles Van Doren is not the man who killed "Little Augie," set fire to the orphan asylum, did away with Judge Crater, struck Billy Patterson, doped the horse track favorite or hid out from the prize-fight commissions.

He did not send the Russian tanks back into Budapest, give away the secret of the atom bomb or throw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder. But he is getting more criticism and spot-lighting than any of these characters. Between now and Nov. 2, it may be implied that he sabotaged the Canaveral missile program and caused the steel strike.

No congressional committee has put the worst thugs, gangsters and felons in a more embarrassing position before the public and presumably on information only from self-confessed fixers and losers.

None of the admitted hoax experts has been so harassed, photographed, and pursued as this man of good reputation who comes from a family distinguished for high standards.

PLENTY OF PEOPLE will take Van Doren's word over that of the confessed "riggers" who framed shows and boast it was a "practice over the year."

We don't know Van Doren but we think that if we had suddenly been made a "target for tonight" by U.S. representatives and abruptly dropped from a $50,000 a year job by our friends, we would have been sufficiently dazed to seek a seclusion in which to meditate on routines and "angles."

We would not have stopped in Connecticut hills but gone at least to northern Maine mountain peak, under the impression we were pursued by bloodhounds from the original Eliza Across-the-Ice act.

A 32-YEAR-OLD federal official, seven years out of law school, now a chief in Anti-Trust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice, has ruled that a dozen top New England bankers of unquestioned prestige for solid conservatism are wrong to think it proper to merge two of the oldest and soundest banks in the country.

The act is more stunning in view of the fact huge bank mergers are going on all over the country, beside which this one is "small potatoes."

The government official is Robert Hicks, who a few years ago was a Yale student, studying a stone's throw from First National Bank and the Union-New Haven Trust Company, whose merger he now calls a violation of the Anti-Trust law.

(He seems to have thrown the stone.) Both institutions are but a few blocks from the campus. We wonder if the ruling should have been made to accompaniment of the Whiffenpoof song.

The Ingrid Bergman - Rossellini children must wonder whose custody they are leaving or entering and at what speed.

Eileen Farrell, signed by the Metropolitan Opera climbed up there from a start on radio as a radio thrush.

JOSEPH N. WELCH is quiting law to confine activities to TV and pictures. This in itself is material for a screen play. But if you had written a story in which a homespun, nonphotogenic smalltown attorney, relatively unknown, would come out of the McCarthy-Army hearings as the chief beneficiary and hit the big money as a colorful performer in show biz, it would have been called too farfetched.

It's hard to match the saga of Mr. Welch, who got a loud "Who he?" when he first appeared in McCarthy case, switching from world of Blackstone to world of Abel Green's "Variety," and winning fame as an actor.

Fall Sweepstakes

Australia Avoids Costly Strikes

By Victor Riesel

President Eisenhower's staff has advised him that he could well be moving into his last year in the White House while mighty little else is moving through the land. In midwinter, transport could be frozen — not by the weather but by the chilling strikes of powerful unions — on the docks, the rails and, therefore, in airport freight terminals. If fuel and gas doesn't move, neither does over-the-highway trucking.

Victor Riesel

And then right smack in the middle of the presidential election, James Carey's International Union of Electrical Workers tackles the vast General Electric jet engine, electronic, TV set and kitchen appliance complex. That one could keep the White House agitated right through the next inauguration.

Yet there is no law which the President can use to stop a strike with equity and fairness to all who work by hand and brain and to all who hire.

IT IS NO SECRET to insiders that the President is examining the laws of other lands which can end such strikes before workers starve and profits die. There is such a law in Australia—and recently I asked that nation's minister of labor how it works when unions are threatening not to.

There is special interest in the Conciliation and Arbitration Act because Australia's unions are powerful. Australia is one of the most highly unionized lands in the world. Some 60 per cent of its workers are organized. Compare this with the United States where less than 30 per cent are unionized.

he minister of labor tells me that "minimum wages and conditions tend to be uniformly good throughout the country but there is still ample scope for bargaining agreements outside the system for higher wages and better conditions."

WHAT IS the Australian system? How does it prevent strikes, slowdowns, wildcats and the kind of senseless civil war we've seen on our steel front?

First, the "Constitution of the Commonwealth of Australia gives to the federal government power to make laws with respect to conciliation and arbitration for the prevention and settlement of industrial disputes," the minister says.

There is a register of some 150 unions and 60 employer associations. (There are 125 major national unions in the United States.) Those registered are under the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Commission.

Some of the commissioners are assigned to a group of industries. Some have just one industry, such as our steel business, to look after.

Unlike our Federal Conciliation Service, the Australian outfit doesn't have to wait for a crisis to break out.

If it appears to a commissioner that "an industrial dispute has occurred or is likely to occur, he shall wh ther he has been notified (by the union or industry) or not . . . immediately ascertain" who are the parties in the dispute and what they're fighting over.

-:-

IF WE HAD such a system, we the people of the United States would never get to the point where George Taylor, head of the president's emergency board, would say that no one knew what the issues were after a 12-week steel strike.

The Australian commissioner calls a meeting. He has subpoena powers. Everybody comes. He listens and examines documents.

He tries to settle the feud amicably because the law says that he "shall make all such suggestions and do all such things as appear to be right and proper for effecting a reconciliation between the parties."

If he can't do it amicably, he simply arbitrates wages, hours and working conditions. There is an appeal to the head of the commission and from there to the Common wealth Industrial Courts.

That's it. There is no appeal from the court. The unions are prospering. The industrialists are prospering. Australia is prospering. What's wrong with that?

'Compulsory Arbitration'

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The two dirtiest words—for big unions and big management—are "compulsory arbitration." But that's what they may be headed for. In time, at least. The steel strike shows why.

Under a compulsory arbitration law the government would step in—when union and managemet failed to agree on wages and working conditions—and dictate a settlement which both sides would have to accept.

The ideal in labor-management relations in a free society is for both sides to have complete freedom from government interference in settling disputes. Freedom includes freedom to shut down a plant or strike it.

This ideal is shared by the Eisenhower administration and perhaps by most Americans. Nevertheless, it is a limited ideal: It begins to lose its appeal when a labor dispute begins to cause broad damage.

There wasn't much of a national problem when American society was more primitive and injury from a strike or shutdown was pretty much limited to the union or company or companies involved. This is no longer the case.

In this present complex society, with its various parts growing more interdependent, a prolonged strike in one vital industry can throw millions out of jobs in other industries and start an economic tailspin.

And this nation's complexities and interdependencies of today are only a shadow of what they will be in the years ahead as the population increases and industries interlock in their needs.

It is possible—and this writer strongly believes it is likely—that the time is coming when the government, for the sake of the nation, will not permit strikes in vital industries.

That, of course, raises a nice question: What is a vital industry? At this time and offhand it is easy to think of some which fit that category because a strike in any of them affects the national welfare:

Railroads, Steel, Airlines, Communications. But right there an argument begins. Many industries are engaged in communications in some form, such as telephone, telegraph, newspapers, television, radio.

Would all of them be considered vital? If the time comes when Congress considers a ban on strikes in communications or any other vital industry it will have the fight of its life on its hands, and for this reason:

Each industry, like each individual, and each union would want to retain for itself the maximum amount of freedom.

But if a ban on strikes comes, then the government will have to provide a settlement and that, in the end, could only be done by imposing compulsory arbitration.

The steel strike is now in its 15th week. At the start of it President Eisenhower refused to permit direct government intervention. He wanted the union and the steel industry to have the utmost freedom to reach a settlement of their own through collective bargaining.

The union and management between them made the collective bargaining process a farce. And on Oct. 19, when Eisenhower decided to seek an injunction to stop the strike for 80 days, he said:

"In order to protect the interests of all the American people, this leaves me with no alternative. American hopes for a voluntary responsible settlement have not been fulfilled. It is a sad day for the nation."

He acted only when the effect of the strike began to spread into other industries with the danger, unless something was done to stop it, that the country might go tumbling back into recession.

Before Congress ever goes so far as to ban strikes and impose compulsory arbitration, it almost surely will seek some less drastic measure but one sterner than any now available.

That may work for a while. But in the end, in the years ahead, this writer believes a strike in an essential industry affecting the national welfare will not be permitted.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Representatives of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association conferred with five members of the building committee of the Second Baptist Church when plans for a financial campaign were discussed.

Plans for implementing provisions of an act of the 1927 legislature, requiring teaching of temperance in the elementary, high and normal schools of West Virginia, was announced by William C. Cook, state superintendent of schools.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Charts and other material to be used in a home and farm accident prevention campaign in East Liverpool, were distributed in schools of the district.

The Glee Club of the Ceramic City Male Chorus appeared at a father and son meeting of the Salineville Masonic Lodge 348.

TEN YEARS AGO — The 1949 Community Fund campaign collected $$11,462, or 20 per cent of the goal, the first day.

Some 200 women from the northern part of District 6 attended the union meeting for Daughters of America in the Odd Fellows Temple.

Labor Peace Obstacle

By David Lawrence

Union Leaders Lack Statesmanship

If two groups of Americans with the same background of freedom and the same belief in the processes of reason, rather than force, as a means of settling disputes cannot do so, what chance is there for governments representing peoples of differing backgrounds to make peace?

David Lawrence

This is the question that wistfully suggests itself as a heartbreaking period of nearly 100 days comes to an end. For, while "free collective bargaining" has had its fullest opportunity, it failed completely to end the war between the managers of the steel industry and the labor unions.

Economic power brings its wars, painful and costly, just as does military power. The mediation or conciliation process in the steel war has brought no solution by the parties themselves.

A third force has ordered governmental intervention. This means a compulsory abandonment of the strike for 80 days, as required by a 12-year-old law known as the Taft-Hartley Act.

President Truman invoked it 10 times. President Eisenhower has used it 7 times.

Inevitably, if the steel strike is resumed after the 80 days are over, Congress will vote to require both sides to submit to compulsory arbitration.

THE NATION simply cannot stand a continuance of the costly strike. It would mean incalculable damage to the national defense program as well as to the economic life of the country.

When two groups of citizens hold the fate of the nation in their hands and cannot agree to settle their disputes directly, the government, as the representative of the public interest, usually takes a hand.

Knowing all this, why didn't the parties themselves reach some compromise settlement? The President withheld any action for a long time, hoping that the two sides would get together sooner or later.

Labor leaders criticized him for failing to act sooner. But he did not wish to interfere with the collective bargaining process. Indeed, in the interval since the fact finding board was appointed on Oct. 9, the members of that group made every effort to act as mediators and to obtain some kind of settlement.

The result was a deadlock just the same, and the union leadership now announced that at the end of the 80-day "cooling off" period, it will strike again.

This means that the union demands unconditional surrender and is ready to help break down the nation's economy in order to get its own way.

MOST UNFORTUNATE was the rejection by the union of the proposal of the steel managers that the issues unresolved be submitted to an impartial tribunal of arbitrators and that both sides be required to accept the settlement. This is a far-reaching proposal.

Indeed, the President's fact finding board reported on Monday that basically the positions of the two sides "on wage adjustment, exclusive of cost-of-living escalation, leave them not much more than a cent apart."

What really developed was a fundamental divergence of view on what are called "working rules."

This is a complex subject and will never be solved by name-calling or emotional outbursts.

It is the kind of thing that has to be settled by technicians and experienced arbitrators. It involves the right of managers to manage and operate their businesses and to require a full day's work for the pay given.

The head of the steel union insists that the other side hasn't budged but the record presented to Mr. Eisenhower by the fact finding board shows that many concessions were made by the management side.

Its proposal to arbitrate the working rules is described as "significant" by Dr. George W. Taylor, chairman of the fact finding board and an experienced negotiator.

The current controversy in steel may prove to be a milestone in American labor-management history. The system whereby management, rather than incur a strike, has each year granted wage increases and then raised prices has finally come to a breakdown because foreign countries are selling steel in America, despite tariffs, at prices below those in the American market.

This eventually can mean unemployment for millions of workers in the United States.

STEEL IS NOT the only industry affected. The whole price structure of the nation is related to what happens in steel.

Hence, the American people are up against a serious crisis. Will they permit big unions and big business to fight each other to the point of ruin of the country's economic system?

Naturally, the government will have to step in. But will this not hurt the whole future of collective bargaining? It must necessarily do so.

Then why can't the labor leaders see that they must arrange a compromise? Is it because they still think they control Congress and can, as a result of campaign contributions, keep any unfavorable legislation from being passed?

They never were more mistaken. The last Congress enacted new labor-reform legislation despite protests from the professional unionists. It will be found that Congress reflected the sentiment of the people, including the families of the workers themselves.

Labor unionism today seems to lack statesmanship as well as foresight. It has failed in a critical moment to arrange a compromise and the net result is to be government compulsion.

This is a defeat of reason. It is a reliance instead on sheer force—a sad moment in American history.

The Fallacy Of Averages

By Truman Twill

When I get through laughing, I'll hunt for my bracket in the new weight chart of the insurance companies.

What makes me laugh is the explanation that the new chart replaces the one is use for the last 30 years because it's obsolete.

This will not be happy talk for the insurance companies and their figure-wizards, but the new chart is obsolete too — and for the same reason they had to get rid of the old chart.

Human beings are not widgets.

Their state of being cannot be measured with weights and calipers.

You cannot tell anything about them by comparing their weight with the average weight of other people.

People are not averages. They are individuals. They are themselves, not composites.

The fallacy of averages has been the only ax I have held through thick and thin, fair and foul, sickness and health etc. To date, I am still fighting to get close enough to the grindstone to make some sparks fly.

Nothing makes me more determined than the conclusion that I should weigh thus and so because it is the average weight of umpity thousands of my fellow creatures. So what?

Included are all the slobs and lard-pots, the five-by-fives, beer-bellies, a double-chins and meat-necks.

Also included are football freaks, gluttons, glandularly disturbed unfortunates, the water - retainers, Brahma bulls, the hippy-hippy-hooray set, piano-legged stalwarts and the muscle-bound.

My sympathy is extended to all of them.

It takes all kinds. Buy why must thinsies be expected to come up to the average weight of the overweight unfortunates?

Just because they outnumber us does not mean we have no minority rights. To be sure, the new chart has been scaled down in our direction. The croakers now are coming around to believe we attenuated specimens have been wearing ourselves out as pallbearers because we hang around longer than our beefed-up friends. But statisticians are still off on their crazy kick about averages.

If we are too far off the average, we thinsies are on the defensive. The same insurance people who envy us for showing up at other people's funerals give us the cold shoulder if we want to gamble on the outcome.

Body-feelers and needle-jabbers in hospitals purse their lips and go into huddles when we show up to give blood to stricken porkypies who need help.

Our lard-sided friends pause on their way to the mortician to ask us how we feel. There is a disposition to take care of us because of our apparent frailty.

But the only time a poundage deficit ever brothers us is in an automobile when some butter-bottom gets the thing out of trim while we're driving and we have to center the behemoth's bulk so we can hold the car on the road.

So now the insurance companies have a brand new chart to prove we're outnumbered, as usual, by fleshies and flabbies. Their oid chart is out of date. When I get laughing about that, I'll look up my bracket and see how many pounds I'm under average. It will be about 40. The miracle is that I stayed alive, to hear the chunkstyles tell it. But chances are I'll bury 'em. Me and Khrushchev.

The little state of Rhode Island has more than 400 miles of coastline.

ELHS Band Mothers Told Of Activities For Musicians

Don Allen, supervisor of instrumental music, told of future activities of the student musicians at a meeting of the ELHS Band and Orchestra Mothers Tuesday night at the Memorial Auditorium. Twenty-eight were present.

Twenty-three members of the orchestra will go to Dover Nov. 7 for an all day regional orchestra program. The group will sponsor a bus for the trip.

String orchestra members will go to Alliance Nov. 21 for the Northern District event.

The annual winter pop concert will be held Jan. 30.

During business conducted by Mrs. Wayne Russell, president, a report on projects of the group has given by Mrs. Clare Manypenny, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Those desiring to order Christmas cards may call Mrs. Joseph Cooper, FU 5-1901, and for Christmas candles, Mrs. James Bennett, FU 5-9034. Christmas candy will again be sold by the group and orders may be placed with the ways and means committee.

The association endorsed renewal of the City Hospital levy on the Nov. 3 ballot.

The program include a violin quartet, Suzanne Nagel, Janet Eardley, Wayne Locke and Karen Neff, who played three selections.

Mrs. Ross Grimes opened with devotions. The social committee served lunch.

Fathers Night will be observed at the meeting Nov. 17. The high school dance band will provide the entertainment.

Scout In Troop 7 Wins Star Rank

Gabriel Ludman was advanced to Star Scout by a Board of Review of Troop 7 of St. Aloysius Catholic Church at a meeting Tuesday night in the Parochial School.

Ludman qualified for the rank by earning merit badges in farm layout and building arrangement.

Serving on the board were Charles Laughley, advancement chairman, and Charles McKinnon, secretary-treasurer.

Other committee members present included George Beck, chairman; Charles McBride, scoutmaster; Harry Smith and Joe O'Hanlon, assistant scoutmasters, and Charles Capwell, public relations chairman.

Mike Molchan, new institutional representative for Troop and Pack 7, was introduced.

Plans were discussed for a Halloween party Oct. 29 and for sponsoring a bake sale in November. A charter presentation was planned for Nov. 19. Council advance training will be held Nov. 7, 8, 14 and 15. McBride urged members to attend.

Refreshments were served.

Trucker Charged In Lisbon Crash

LISBON — Harold D. Jenkins, 34, of Kensington was cited for unsafe operation following a collision between his truck and an auto on the Public Square Tuesday afternoon about 4:20.

Police said Jenkins, driving south on Market St., hit a car driven by Charles R. Donaldson, 51, of 407 Broadway, Wellsville, who had stopped for a traffic signal.

Jenkins posted $15 bond for a hearing before Mayor John Todd.

Meanwhile, James N. Kelly, 41, of Washington, Pa., forfeited a $15 bond in Mayor Todd's court yesterday when he failed to appear for a hearing on a charge of failure to stop for a halted school bus.

Vernon Martin of Alliance forfeited $15 when he failed to appear on a charge of crossing the yellow line. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

14 Chairmen Named In PTA

Committee chairmen were announced at a meeting of the Chester Central Parent - Teacher Association Tuesday night at the high school.

Named by Mrs. Alvin Reed, president, were Mrs. Forrest McDonald, PTA Congress publications; Mrs. William Moore, membership; Mrs. J. M. Brand, program; Mrs. Albert Ferguson, hospitality; Mrs. Thomas Boggs, publicity.

Mrs. Paul Barnhart, national PTA; Mrs. Herman Wilson and Mrs. Jack Allison, homeroom representatives; John Abrams, safety; Mrs. David Pugh, projects; J. A. Wallace and Robert Miller, delegates to PTA Council; Mrs. Clifton Huff and Mrs. Robert Miller, advance notices, and Mrs. Wilbur Staley, historian.

Abrams screened a film on fire prevention and discussed safety.

Mrs. Thomas Bowen was named chairman of a public skating party Monday night at the Melody Lane Rink at Hookstown.

Plans were discussed for Halloween parties for the first four grades at the Central School Oct. 30.

Open house will be held in Chester Schools Nov. 9-13 for National Education Week. Mrs. James Waggle, Mrs. John Abrams and Mrs. S. L. Miller were named a committee for the observance.

The attendance award was won by the fifth grade taught by Mrs. Ruth Cater and the second grade taught by Miss Sue Linger. Program books were distributed.

Refreshments were served 121 by Mrs. Thomas Miller and committee. The next meeting will be Nov. 17.

Midland Service Clubs To Hold Joint Meeting

Midland Lion Club members will be guests of the Midland Rotary Club at the annual joint meeting Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the social rooms of the Presbyterian Church.

William Moll will be program chairman. Entertainment will feature Nila Bailey, pantomimist, and Richard Malone, cartoonist, both of East Liverpool.

Lloyd Deffenbaugh, music supervisor at Lincoln High School, will be song leader. Miss Sandra Sue Moll will be accompanist. The Rev. George H. Bohlender will give the invocation.

The Queen Esther Class will serve dinner.

To Quit Production

SMITHFIELD, N. C. (AP) — Production of blankets will be discontinued at its St. Marys, Ohio plant, Fieldcrest Mills., Inc., said Tuesday. All equipment at the Ohio site will be moved to North Carolina factories, the firm said. A new plant for electric blankets is under construction here.

The conquistadores were the Spanish conquerors of Mexico and Peru.

BPW Committee Airs Dinner Meeting Plans

The public affairs committee of the Business & Professional Women's Club met Monday night with Mrs. Helen Downard of W. 6th St.

Plans were completed for the dinner meeting Nov. 11 at Travelers Hotel when a program on "Home Preparedness for Civil Defense" will be presented.

Attending were Mrs. Dorothy Evans, chairman, Miss Olive Williamson, vice chairman, Mrs. Edna Jones, Miss Hazel McShane, Mrs. Ila Shingler, Miss Gladys Rinehart and Mrs. Faye Wright.

Miss Helen Bibbee, program coordinator, also was present.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Evans.

Weirton Steel Aid Addresses Nurses

Robert Ellsworth, operations inspector for Weirton Steel Co., spoke at the dinner meeting of the Tri-State Industrial Nurses Association Tuesday night at the Fort Steuben Hotel in Steubenville.

He screened the movie, "From Ore to Your Door."

Mrs. Ruby Webb of East Liverpool, president, conducted business.

She reported on the recent presidents' meeting in New York City.

Among the 26 attending were Mrs. Webb of the Hall China Co. and Mrs. Rhea Nile of the Sterling China Co.

The next dinner meeting will be Nov. 17 at the hotel when Dr. J. L. Thompson, medical director of Weirton Steel, will be guest speaker.

His subject will be "The Development of Effective Medical Treatment for Major Industrial Injuries." All company doctors will be invited.

2 Airmen Rescued

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Capt. Richard D. Williams of Bellaire, Ohio, and another man were rescued Tuesday—one by ship, one by helicopter—after they were forced to bail out of their F101B Voodoo jet. The plane, based at Suffolk Air Force Base on Long Island, plunged into Long Island Sound.

Paris, France, and Montreal, Canada, are the world's two largest French-speaking cities.

OH, MY ACHING BACK
Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.
Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.
Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. New, large size saves money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Officers Elected By School Group

LISBON — Russell Bethel, high school supervisor, and Mrs. Blanche Hensley, elementary supervisor, both of Stark County, were elected president and secretary, respectively, of the Northeast District County Suprvisors Association Tuesday in East Canton.

They succeed Lorin Ruff, elementary supervisor, and Mrs. Marilyn Solak, high school consultant, of Columbiana County. Approximately 50 attended the meeting.

Columbiana County Supt. James L. McBride and Stark County Supt. Tom Knapp spoke. Ruff was named chairman to organize a panel to discuss organization for special education at the fall meeting of the Ohio Association of County Superintendents at Ohio University at Athens Nov. 13-14. The panel will include a member of the State Department on special education, a teacher, supervisor, university professor and superintendent. A movie on special education in Wayne County will be shown.

The Northeast District group will make up a report on improvement of instructions for the April news letter for the State Association. Bethel will be the chairman of the group on this project.

Panel Discusses Vocational Service Policies Of Rotarians

A four-member committee headed by Alvin T. Babb discussed the importance of blending a four-way test for self improvement with vocational service policies when the Rotary Club met Tuesday noon in the Travelers Hotel.

Serving on the panel and topics discussed were T. Fred Edwards, buyer-seller relations; Larry Sixt, employer-employe relations, and C. Walter Ashbaugh, trade associations.

Babb said the purpose of the vocational service committee is to "co-ordinate members in putting Rotary's goals to work where they work."

Rotary's four-way test for self-improvement, endorsed by International President Cliff Randall, was listed by Edwards as "Is it the Truth?", "Is it fair to all concerned?", "Will it bring good will and friendship?", and "Will it be beneficial to all concerned?"

The panel called on members to incorporate the test in community service and their occupations.

Edwards, commercial manager of Ohio Bell Telephone Co., read a "scorecard" of 21 questions dealing with vocational service and buyer - seller relations. He also pointed out that "the four-way test is only 24 words but it is a concise rule that may serve as a springboard to voluntary self improvement."

Edwards said some questions employers should ask themselves in business operations include "Is courtesy to employes a rule in my business?", "Do I consider the other fellow's rights in making claims?", and "Do my advertisements accurately describe the quality of my product?"

Sixt pointed out that employers and employes should strive for frank and honest relations leading to personal happiness and better production. He is a manager of New Castle Refractories.

Ashbaugh commented that "club members have a tremendous influence in relations with one another and trade associations."

Winston A. Porter reminded members to support the City Hospital levy up for renewal Nov. 3.

Due to bylaws, the club is not permitted to endorse such issues, but David Boyce made a motion that "we would endorse the levy renewal if permitted to do so."

Charles Taylor, president, presided.

PUC Again Postpones County Rail Hearing

LISBON — The Ohio Public Utilities Commission hearing scheduled Tuesday in Columbus was postponed until Monday, according to R. Max Gard, chairman of the county commissioners.

This is the third postponement to air a petition for flasher signals at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing at Moultrie. Railroad officials contend there is no need for automatic warning devices because of very little traffic on the railroad and also on State Route 172.

Chessman Slated To Die Friday In Gas Chamber

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Caryl Chessman, scheduled to die in San Quentin's gas chamber Friday, wants his remains cremated and the ashes scattered to the winds.

That's what he told one of his attorneys, Rosalie Asher, Tuesday. He gave her his will and authorized her to dispose of his personal effects.

But he won't get the wish. Miss Asher explained to Chessman the law prohibits scattering his ashes. She said the remains of the man who has spent 11½ years on death row for kidnap, robbery and attempted rape on Los Angeles lovers' lanes will be placed in a mausoleum.

Miss Asher said Chessman, 38, also authorized her to sign contracts after his death for film rights to his life story.

This is Chessman's seventh scheduled execution date.

Towboat In Local Run Grounds After Collision

The towboat Neville ran aground a few hours after crashing over the dam at Ohio River Lock 44 at Leavenworth, Ind., Tuesday.

No injuries were reported. The accident occurred in heavy fog.

Thirteen barges were being pulled by the 162-foot boat. The Army Corps of Engineers said the Neville had regained control of at least some of the barges, which floated free downstream after plunging over the lock.

A large hole was smashed in the Neville's bottom. The boat went aground three miles downstream from the dam.

It was trying to reach the Maxon Division at Tell City, Ind., where repairs could be made.

The boat, which operates locally, was locked through Dam 8 at Newell last Thursday on its downriver trip.

Restaurant Figure Dies

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Joseph H. Hellriegel, 75, who operated restaurants in Lake County for 41 years, died at his home here Tuesday. He opened Hellriegel's Inn west of here and sold it in 1945. Since 1951 he operated the White House Inn east of Mentor.

Waiting Till Babies 6 Months Old Seen Best For Polio Shots

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Waiting until babies are about 6 months old could be the best time to give antipolio shots, a new study suggests.

Otherwise, the vaccine might fail to protect many babies.

The reason is that the vaccine curiously seems to be nullified by natural protection which many babies temporarily inherit from their mothers, the research finds. When they are 5 or 6 months old, they lose this natural protection.

The findings based on detailed blood studies were presented to the American Public Health Assn. meeting here by Drs. Gordon Brown and Pearl L. Kendrick of the University of Michigan.

Salk vaccine, containing dead polio virus, stimulates the human body to create its own protective antibodies against future invasion by living, dangerous polio viruses.

But babies are often born with antibodies against polio and other diseases. They have them because their mothers had them floating in their own bloodstreams, which are shared with the infants before birth.

Known as passive antibodies, these antibodies protect for a time, then disappear. The baby has no more unless he gets vaccines, or is invaded by specific germs.

40 Attend Beaver Clergy Workshop On Mental Health

Some 40 Beaver County ministers are attending the second annual clergy workshop sponsored by the Beaver County Mental Health Society today at Dixmont State Hospital.

Participating in the program are Dr. Joseph Cammarata, hospital superintendent; Dr. V. J. Cassone, clinical director, and Dr. H. L. Levit, clinical psychologist. Dr. Mark Nesbitt is chairman.

Miss Nannie Davis, supervisor of nursing, directed a tour of the hospital.

A choral group made up of patients at Dixmont will sing at the annual meeting of the society Oct. 29 at the United Presbyterian Church in Beaver.

Reservations for the dinner must be made by Thursday at the society office, 235 College Ave., Beaver.

Dr. A. E. Chadwick will summarize the society's activities during the past year and election of one-third of the Board of Directors will be held.

Dr. Tibor Chickes, minister of counseling at the Baldwin Community Methodist Church and an educator and qualified psychologist, will speak on "No Stigma."

Anti-aircraft artillery used during World War II was referred to as ack-ack.

Board 'Kills' Legal Ad On Metro Amendment

Complying with instructions from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, the Columbiana County Election Board today halted scheduled publication of a legal advertisement giving official notice of a vote on a proposed "metropolitan federation" amendment to the state constitution.

The action was taken after the State Supreme Court at Columbus Tuesday afternoon affirmed a lower court decision removing the issue from the ballot.

Ballots already have been printed here and in most Ohio counties listing the metropolitan federation question and two other proposed amendments to the constitution. Rather than scrap the ballots, Brown told Ohio election boards to instruct precinct personnel not to count or record any votes cast on the metropolitan issue at the Nov. 3 election. The questioned status of the two other proposals still is before the court.

Chester Youth Will Sing On WEWS At Cleveland

Tommy Schneidmiller of Chester, who recently appeared on two successive Ted Mack amateur shows televised from New York City, will sing Thursday over TV station WEWS in Cleveland on Channel 5.

The program, the "One O'clock Club," conducted by Carl Zimmerman, will be from 1 to 2:30 p. m.

Because the season for the amateur shows has closed, Schneidmiller, who sings under the name of Tommy Miller, has not learned the results of his second competition determined by votes from the viewing audience. He has received quite a few "fan letters" since his performance.

In music, a quaver is an eighth note.

Your Community Fund

By SANDRA MATTERN

'An Obligation To Citizenship'

(This is the third in a series of essays written by district high school students in conjunction with the annual Community Fund drive. Today's article is by Sandra Mattern of Trentvale St.)

The first and most important reason for supporting the Community Fund is an obligation to citizenship. It is the duty of each and every citizen to support this campaign because they are the ones who benefit, either directly or indirectly. There are six agencies that have qualified for the campaign fund support— Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, YMCA, Recreational Council and the United Service Organization.

MISS MATTERN

How many of us know what it would be like if we did not have these agencies? There would be no Boy Scouts or Girl Scouts to teach our children to lead healthy, active, clean lives. There would be no playgrounds to keep our children off the streets. There would be no place for our servicemen to go for recreation.

The Community Fund cuts time and money in half. There is only one drive annually instead of six different drives.

Something that should make a good deal of people happy is that all contributions to the fund are tax deductible.

Give generously to your campaign fund. Remember, you are the one who benefits.

Deaths and Funerals

Midland Wife Claimed At 64

Mrs. Theresa Martell, 620 Midland Ave., Midland, wife of Anton Martell, Midland businessman, died Tuesday at 5 p. m. at the Rochester General Hospital after a brief illness. She was 64.

She was born Aug. 7, 1895, in Austria, and was a member of the Presentation Catholic Church at Midland and the Confraternity of Christian Mothers of the church.

Other survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Anne Schofield of Baltimore, Mrs. Martha Davis of Midland and Mrs. Terese Deegan of St. Louis; three sons, Anthony Martell of Midland, Frank Martell of Niagara Falls, and Gene Martell of Toledo; three brothers, Matthew Zimmerman of Cleveland and Stephen Zimmerman and Joseph Zimmerman, both of New York City; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Thonig of Franklin Square, Long Island, and Mrs. Anna Polaus of New York City, and 10 grandchildren.

A Solemn Requiem High Mass will be sung Friday morning at 10 at the church. Burial will be in the Beaver Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Schwerha Funeral Home in Midland after 7 tonight.

Mrs. George Robinson

Mrs. Jeanette Ruth Robinson of Ambridge, a native of Wellsville, died suddenly of a heart attack Tuesday at 2 a. m. at her home. She was 44.

Born Nov. 15, 1914, in Wellsville, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilmore of North Royalton, who survive. She resided in Ambridge for the past 20 years.

Other survivors include her husband, George E. Robinson at home; three sons, Dorman Robinson of Byersdale, George D. Robinson and Robert Robinson, also at home; a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Roland of Leetsdale; three brothers, Dorman Winder of Chester, John Gilmore and James Gilmore, both of Cleveland; four sisters, Mrs. Harry Johnson of Wellsville, Mrs. Florence Sayre of Cleveland, Mrs. Loretta Richetts of Mechanicsburg, Pa., and Mrs. Helen Sayre of Chester, and five grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Fitzgerald & Syka Funeral Home at Ambridge by the Rev. Floyd C. McFarland, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church at Ambridge. Burial will be in Economy Cemetery there.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Wellsville Club Elects

R. H. Brown Elevated To Kiwanis Presidency

Richard H. (Gus) Brown was elevated to president at election of officers Tuesday night by the Wellsville Kiwanis Club.

Brown, now second vice president, succeeds Atty. Delmar T. O'Hara. Other officers named were Richard Rowe, first vice president, and Charles E. Wilfing, second vice president. Thomas N. Piatt was re-elected treasurer. Rowe succeeds Supt. S. E. Daw, who also is secretary.

Named to the Board of Directors were Richard Grills, Robert Lowther, Myron Weis, D. Norman MacLean, Cedric Stanway, George Stapleford, and Allen Dalrymple.

Brown also is a city councilman and president of the Chamber of Commerce. He served as the Red Cross drive chairman the past three years and was chairman of the Wellsville Boy Scout drive last year. He also is an officer in the Wellsville Masonic Lodge. A resident of 1714 Buckeye Ave., he is a foreman for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

The new officers will be seated in January. The nominating committee included Atty. William Bush, Fred Huston and Thomas Grafton.

The meeting was at Piatt's Tea Room. Brown and Cedric Stanway reported on the state convention held recently at Cleveland.

Succeeds Atty. Delmar O'Hara.

The club will conduct its annual peanut sale during the Wellsville-Salem football game Friday night at Nicholson Stadium. Proceeds are used for youth work.

Sixteen were present. The club also voted to sell Christmas trees in December to raise money for youth work.

The next meeting will be Tuesday at 6:30 p. m.

razing of Whitacre Apartments after Councilman Dominick Dash said a hazardous condition exists. Dash said it appears if a section of stone near the roof could possibly fall.

Councilman Richard Brown complained of children riding bicycles along the streets after dark without lights.

He also asked that members of Council consider renting or selling the former Simms property on Danbury Ave. The city had to buy the property as the house is in the pondage area for McQueen's Run flood overflow. The matter was referred to the property committee for a recommendation.

Paul Ice, clerk, was directed to write Gov. Michael DiSalle regarding the hazardous intersection of Routes 7 and 213 below Wellsville. The letter also is to contain a request that the section of Route 7 below Wellsville to the intersection be placed under the jurisdiction of the Lisbon State Highway Patrol barracks rather than Wintersville barracks.

Planning Committee Formed For Cub Pack Urged At PTA

Volunteers to serve on a planning committee for a Cub Pack Troop were solicited by Mrs. Wanda Hanlon, president, at the meeting of the Garfield Parent-Teacher Association Monday night in the Wellsville school.

The request for volunteers to investigate the possibility of forming such a group followed a plea made by Frank Rossi of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council for the PTA to reorganize and sponsor a pack.

Judge Raymond Buzzard of East Liverpool spoke on the Fifth Amendment. The sixth grade, directed by Mrs. Louise Lawton, sang and the Lord's Prayer was given in unison. Don Collins also sang. A report of the ways and means committee was given by Mrs. Sara Rose and the group decided to contract with Bell Photos to take the pupils' pictures.

Earl Bake, president of the Board of Education, introduced Dwight Brookman and Richard Rowe, board members. Announcements included the County Council PTA workshop to be held Thursday at 7:30 at MacDonald School for officers, teachers and all interested members; the observance of Education Week Nov. 9-14 and the joint PTA meeting of all groups of the city Jan. 18 at MacDonald School with Judge Louis Tobin speaker.

The traffic hazard near the school was discussed and Robert Taggart, councilman, was asked to take it up with Council. The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Emma Lewis' first grade. Mrs. Allen Baldwin, who is seeking the city treasurer's post, and Richard Grills, candidate for Board of Education, spoke. A candy sale was held.

weighed several hours after her birth. The others, because of their condition, were not weighed until after their deaths.

Spokesman at Lackland Air Force Base Hospital told newsmen that everything that medical science can do, including artificial respiration, is being done to save the remaining baby.

"I have said lots of prayers," the youthful appearing, crew-cut flying navigator told reporters after the first baby died. "My wife has, too, and it has done lots of good before and now."

Hannan interrupted a news conference to go to his wife's room on the third floor of the hospital when the death of the second baby was announced.

The mother, joyous at the first news of the quintuplet births, wsa reported doing well. Her husband described her to newsmen as a "pretty blue-eyed blonde with short hair." He said she was about 5-foot-3 in heighth and weighed about 120 pounds. The Hannans were childhood sweethearts at a Catholic school in Taylor, Tex., before their marriage there Sept. 7, 1953.

The couple has two sons, Robert, 5, Pat 4. They had spent more than two years in Japan before returning to the United States Aug. 1, 1959.

7 In Fairview Grange Will Attend Convention

A delegation of seven from the Fairview Grange of Pughtown will attend the convention of West Virginia State Granges Thursday through Saturday at Jacksons Mills.

Heading the group is Charles Mills of Newell, master. Others attending will be Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Enid Ferguson, Mrs. Rose Hukill, Mrs. Gussie Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ferguson.

Oliver Johnson, Hancock County agricultural agent, said five will attend from the Jefferson Grange of Swearingen Hill near New Cumberland.

Gas Concern To Build Main At Wellsville

Proposed installation of a new gas main to skirt Wellsville was revealed Tuesday night when representatives of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. appeared before Wellsville City Council to obtain a permit to open streets for the project.

Work is expected to begin soon on the 12-inch carrier main which will start at Meade's Restaurant on the super-road and roughly follow the corporation limits on the hillside above Wellsville, returning into the city along Route 39.

Council granted the permit after Thomas Ridge of Chester and Thomas A. E. Stephan of Wheeling, both representing Manufacturers, explained the plans. They were accompanied by Harold Sneddon, manager of the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Ordinarily Safety - Service Director William S. Robinson grants such permits but he asked representatives of the firm to appear before Council to discuss the project.

Ridge said when the new superdam at Stratton is completed, the supply lines at both ends of town will be under water. The proposal calls for a 12-inch line to begin at Meade's and follow Route 7 to about Highland Ave. where it will take off up over the hill.

The line then will follow around the outskirts of town, crossing Route 45 at the curve above the Roadside Park, crossing the hollow of Little Yellow Creek and continuing onto Russell Heights.

The line then will continue onto Route 39 about 300 feet from the city limits. The 12-inch line will end at this point and a 10-inch line will be carried into the city via Route 39 and Aten Ave. to Commerce St. and then on Commerce to connect up with the 18th St. regulating station. The gas then will feed through the present main in the city.

Future plans call for the 12-inch main to continue through to Stratton, allowing Wellsville to be served from either end, Ridge said.

Ridge said the firm will agree to open only one section of ditching at a time while working on Aten. One-way traffic will be maintained. It will be a slow process as the contractor will have to contend with connecting service lines and bypassing sewer lines, he said.

The contractor and gas firm are liable for any damages, he said. "The preliminary work is nearing completion and we would like to get started right away," Ridge said.

In answer to a question from Council, Sneddon said additional new service lines can be run to residences along Aten. He also said Russell Heights residents will be able to obtain gas.

Ridge said the contractor will bore under Routes 7 and 45 and County Route 418 near Russell Heights.

Ridge promised the streets torn up will be replaced as good or better than they are now.

Councilman Robert Taggart opposed giving the permit on a short notice, contending Council should study the matter further. "Residents of Aten may have something to say about this," he said.

Councilman J. Frederick Russell said the gas company is given many permits to open streets and always leaves them in good condition.

Taggart voted against the issuance of the permit because "we haven't had time to study it."

A large portion of the right-of-way has been cleared. The pipe for the project is stored at 14th and 15th Sts.

Contractor is Carl E. Smith, Inc., of Sandyville, W. Va. Three large tractors and 15 to 20 men are working on clearing the right-of-way. This phase probably will be finished this week.

J. A. McCready is superintendent for the West Virginia firm.

Gridder, 17, Injured At Beaver Local High

A Beaver Local High School football player, hurt at practice, was admitted Tuesday night to City Hospital where a Chester area youth was treated for an injury suffered while playing football.

Dick Stacey, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stacey of Bloomfield, is in "fairly good" condition with a head injury received when hit as he tackled another player during practice. He is a senior.

James Kirby, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Kirby of Chester R. D. 1, suffered a laceration of the scalp in a fall while playing football.

Wells Band Waits Trip To Game At Pittsburgh

The Wells High School Band of Newell will help the University of Pittsburgh observe its annual homecoming Saturday with an appearance at halftime of the Pitt-Texas Christian University football game in Pitt Stadium.

The 72-piece band — rated "superior" at regional and state contests in 1958 — is directed by Mrs. Alyce Ann McDevitt.

Thirty Pittsburgh area bands are scheduled to perform at halftime. The appearance will be the first at a college game for Wells High's Band.

Band members are scheduled to leave from the high school at 7:45 Saturday morning. The trip will be made by school buses.

Lack Of Facts Cited As Court Drops Charge

Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw today dismissed for lack of evidence a reckless driving charge that had been pending against a Midland man since a spectacular crash Oct. 9 on Harvey Ave. in which three autos and a truck were demolished.

Rexall Elkins, 468 Midland Ave., won the dismissal when he appeared for the third time before the judge in connection with the crash. The court heard evidence on Oct. 13 and again on Oct. 14, then continued the case until this morning.

Judge Brokaw commented today that the collision seemed to indicate that Elkins was guilty of reckless driving, but not enough evidence was brought before the court to justify a conviction.

Elkins was injured in the collision, which demolished the car he was driving, along with three parked vehicles on Harvey Ave. near Putnam St. Also wrecked were a pickup truck owned by Wayne Adkins, 2113 Harvey Ave., and autos owned by Robert J. Wagner of Calcutta and Harry L. Stewart, 2121 Harvey Ave.

Meanwhile, William J. Ervin of Utica, Mich., was cited Tuesday at 11:48 p. m. on charges of crashing traffic lights on W. 8th St. at Chestnut St. and Webber Way at Jefferson St. He forfeited an $11 bond on one of the charges today and made arrangements to mail a second $11 bond to the court.

Mrs. Allen Williams, 1037 Vine St., forfeited an $11 bond on a charge of crashing a traffic light at Walnut and E. 5th Sts. Tuesday morning. Wilbert Wallace, 1924 Clark Ave., Wellsville, cited yesterday morning for crashing the light at E. 5th St. and Broadway, is scheduled for a hearing Saturday morning.

Warrant Used As Man Skips 'Date' In Court

Otto Thomas Jenkins, 20, of LaCroft was haled before Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw today on a warrant after he failed to appear for a scheduled hearing Saturday on a charge he was involved in a drag race with an Avondale St. youth on the "super - road" section of W. 8th St.

Jenkins was fined $50 and $6 costs on a reckless driving charge, but Judge Brokaw suspended all except $16 of the penalty "pending good traffic behavior for one year." Jenkins was given until Tuesday to make payment when he pleaded immediate lack of funds.

The LaCroft man also was instructed to settle an unpaid fine of $10 and costs imposed March 27 on a speeding charge. On the same date, he was fined $10 and costs and given a 15-day license suspension on a reckless driving charge. He paid the reckless driving penalty, court records show.

Jenkins also has been before the court for driving without a license and using improper plates.

Jenkins was taken into custody at 4 p. m. yesterday by Patrolman W. E. McDaniel on a warrant signed by Patrolman K. H. Mooney. It accused him of reckless driving by "drag racing at a high rate of speed on W. 8th St. from Edwards Ave. to Lisbon St."

Jenkins and Kenneth D. Dotson, 1071 Avondale St., were cited for drag racing Friday night. Dotson forfeited a $31 bond Saturday, but Jenkins failed to appear. Meanwhile, Jenkins was arrested at Wellsville Saturday night on a fighting charge. He was fined $25 Monday.

Half Of Needy Families Receive Surplus Food

Only a little more than half of the 648 East Liverpool area families certified to receive surplus foods actually obtained commodities Monday at the Central Fire Station.

Robert Bycroft, Columbiana County welfare director, said 370 families received distributions of the food items. The distribution represented commodities to 1,320, compared to the 2,215 eligible, he said.

A total of 186 families received surplus food Friday at Wellsville, representing 613 persons. Bycroft said there are 195 families with 883 members eligible.

Commercial air transportation began in the United States in 1921.

The dog was the first animal domesticated by man.

What's happened to the price of gasoline?

IT HAS CHANGED ELEVEN TIMES SINCE OCTOBER, 1955
AND IS NOW THE SAME AS IT WAS THEN, ALTHOUGH GASOLINE TAX INCREASES MAY MAKE IT APPEAR HIGHER TO YOU

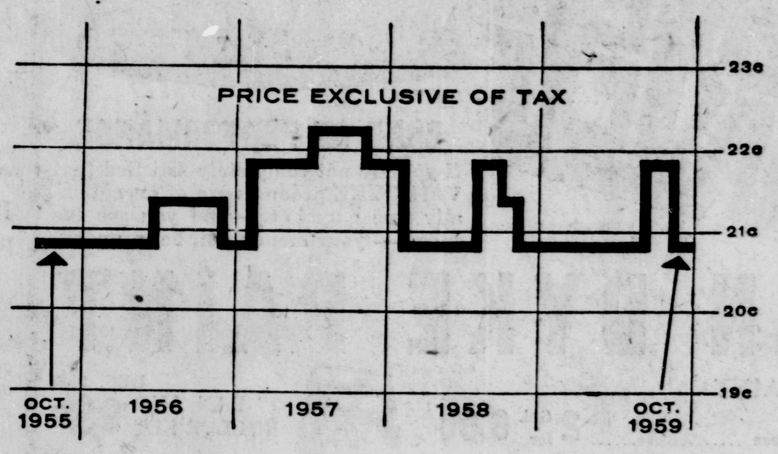
Here's how Sohio gasoline prices have responded competitively to changes in supply and demand

Since the end of 1955, the retail price* of Sohio gasoline, exclusive of tax, has changed eleven times—five times upward and six times downward. In amount, these changes have been one cent, half a cent, or four-tenths of a cent. These ups and downs are the result of competition for your gasoline business. The prices simply reflect the amount of gasoline available compared with the amount you buy. In other words, they are a classic example of the workings of the old law of supply and demand.

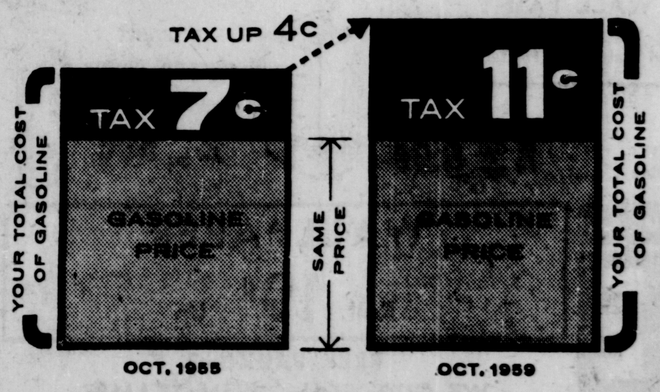
As can be seen in the graph, the increases in price have been offset by decreases in price. As a result, the price for Sohio's regular-grade gasoline is the same today as it was in October, 1955! During this same four-year period, the average prices that consumers pay for all commodities and services have increased almost 9%.

The price of Sohio regular-grade gasoline at most of its company-operated stations.*



The gasoline tax has increased 57% since 1955, and now represents more than a 50% sales tax

In 1955, gasoline taxes, both state and federal, totaled 7¢ a gallon. Since then, there have been three increases in taxes, and the total tax is now 11¢ a gallon. The reason why it costs you more to "fill 'er up" today than it did in 1955 is not because the gasoline itself is higher priced. It's because the taxes are 4¢ a gallon higher.



Sohio brings you these facts on gasoline prices because we believe they are of interest to you. If you would like a copy of a special pamphlet on gasoline prices, "Price Competition in the Oil Industry," send your request to Tom Holiday, Sohio, Midland Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio. For your convenience, free, pre-addressed, stamped post cards are available at all Sohio stations.

30 In Scout Group Take New Course

Thirty new leaders and committee mothers attended the first session of an eight-week basic training course offered by the East Liverpool Area Girl Scout Council Monday night in the YMCA.

The five fundamentals that make up the basic principles of scouting were discussed by Mrs. Dan Henderson, assisted by Mrs. Alvin Reed.

A workshop for songs and games was to be held this afternoon also at the Y for all leaders and interested persons.

Mrs. Louise Brookman Taylor of Wellsville and Mrs. Ruby Rutter will be in charge. There is no fee for any of the courses.

National and local policies will be discussed at the second session next Monday from 7 to 9 p. m. at the Y. Miss Ellen Monroe, executive secretary, and Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, president of the council, will conduct the meeting.

4-Year Terms Due Village Councils Effective In 1962

The Nov. 3 general election will mark the last time villages in Columbiana County and elsewhere in Ohio will elect a full slate to councilmen to only two-year terms.

Under a new state law, councilmen will be named to four-year terms beginning in 1961, according to Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board.

The new law, passed by the General Assembly this year, provides villages will elect four councilmen to four-year terms in 1961 and four quadrennially thereafter. Two councilmen will be elected to two-year terms.

In 1963, villages will elect councilmen for the remaining two posts to four-year terms. The apparent intent of the law is that when the cycle finally is established the terms of two councilmen will expire in time for one village election and the terms of the other four will run out two years later.

Thus, as villages will continue to vote every two years to elect other officials, two councilmen would be named at one election and four would be chosen in the next election two years later.

The law makes no change in the terms of other village officials such as mayor, clerk and treasurer. Terms of city councilmen are not affected. They will continue at two years.

Junior 4-H Leaders Plan Halloween Fete

LISBON — A Halloween party will be held at the Columbiana County Junior 4-H leaders meeting Thursday at 8:30 P. M. (DST) at the Lisbon Grange Hall, according to Miss Julia Shank, county extension agent in home economics.

Business will include reports from standing committees, James Skeels, president, said.

This meeting will provide the last opportunity for members to turn in their books and pay dues, Skeels said.

Wellsville Republican Women Will Hold Tea

An open house tea will be held for women of Wellsville Thursday afternoon at Piatt's Tea Room by the Wellsville Republican Women's Club.

Mrs. Letha Astry of Salem, 18th District GOP committeewoman, will speak on party organization and precinct work. Presidents of county Republican women's groups are expected to attend.

A brief musical program will be presented, featuring selections by Mrs. Louise Brookman Taylor and solos by Mrs. Jane Kuta, both of Wellsville.

The tea will be held from 3 to 5 p. m. (EST) Mrs. Mary Clark, chairwoman, said.

2 Newsboys Cited

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two corner newsboys age 12 and 13, arrested after a sweep of vandalism through five public schools last week, must earmark half their earnings toward the estimated $500 damage. In Juvenile Court Tuesday, Judge Benjamin Schwartz said to one: "You are one of the very few newspaper boys that have come up here, son. Newsboys are kept busy selling papers. They have a feeling of achievement."

Cites Space Program Dickering

Under Strain For 7 Years, Very Tired, Medaris Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. John Bruce Medaris, stepping down as army missile chief after four years of rocket successes and political defeats, says he is not quitting because of dissatisfaction with the U.S. space program.

The announcement that he will retire Jan. 31 came just seven days after the White House reportedly told him to shut up.

Medaris said, however, he had submitted his resignation more than 60 days ago. "That should make it plain to you," he told a New York news conference Tuesday, "that some present-day problems were in no way connected with my decision."

Medaris, 58, said he had been under strain for seven years and was very tired. But he conceded there was some inter-service top echelon "dickering, argument and debate" over the nation's space program.

He estimated the Soviet Union is about five years ahead of the United States in space and "we'd better just go like hell" to catch up.

Early in September Medaris received word that his big missile and space team, the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, might be transferred to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The two-star general already had received word that his funds for project Saturn, key to the U.S. big leap into space, had been cut from 135 million dollars to 70 million.

Saturn is the code name for the effort to develop a 1½ million pound thrust rocket engine.

In an interview at his headquarters in Huntsville, Ala., Sept. 16, Medaris appeared touchy and irritable. He finally admitted he was "mad enough to go through the roof." The interview was to be the basis for a story on Saturn due for October release.

On Oct. 12 the Medaris interview of Sept. 16 was published. Medaris was critical of the progress being made on the Saturn program and, indeed, the whole U.S. space program.

On Oct. 13 an army general, who cannot be identified, reported that "the Medaris story has certainly raised hell. The White House complained to Gates and Gates complained to Lemnitzer and Lemnitzer was told to tell Medaris to shut up."

The general was referring to Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff.

Local Studies Pact To End Fruehauf Strike

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—At 3 p.m. today members of Local 925, Allied Industrial Workers, meet here to consider ratifying a settlement to end a 50-day-old strike of 1,600 workers at the Fruehauf Trailer Co. plant in nearby Avon Lake.

A union committee headed by Joe Brown, president of the local, has recommended acceptance of the agreement, reached Tuesday with the help of three federal conciliation commissioners.

Terms of the settlement were not disclosed, but it was learned that a two-year contract is proposed with wage increases totaling about 15 cents an hour, plus improvements in vacations and sick and accident benefits.

Supreme Court Decision 5-2

Metropolitan Amendment Cut From Nov. 3 Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 5-2 decision by the Ohio Supreme Court has trimmed the metropolitan federation amendment from the Nov. 3 ballot.

In its decision announced Tuesday the court cited ". . . failure to journalize the complete text of the proposal during the sessions of the General Assembly" as the basis for its move.

The court affirmed an injunction against newspaper advertising required in advance of a vote on the issue. After hearing the decision, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown issued orders for county election boards not to count any votes on the proposal.

The constitutional amendment text was inserted in the legislative journal two weeks after the General Assembly adjourned Aug. 14. The Supreme Court said the proposal was not legally adopted because of this.

"The attempt after final adjournment of the General Assembly to supply the fatal omission by inserting the proposal in the journals as of a prior date came too late," the court added.

The amendment sought to permit areas containing a city of 50,000 or more population to combine for essential area - wide services, such as police and fire protection, without abolishing existing political subdivisions.

A similar proposal was defeated by voters last year.

Attorneys said Tuesday's decision may aid in preventing a decision by voters on two other proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Paul E. Gilday, Cincinnati attorney, has injunction suits pending on amended petitions in Franklin County Common Pleas Court. They would take a proposal to allow more than three judges on appellate courts, and one to remove the 50 per cent limit on sale of surplus water by cities outside corporation limits, off the Nov. 3 ballots.

He based his actions on claims of improper legislative action similar to that in the federation question. There was no indication when the lower courts would take action.

Tuesday's decision came only one day before the lower court injunction said Brown must cancel the advertisements. Statute requires publication in general circulation newspapers in all counties for five weeks. Brown said the three proposed amendment issues appear on a single ballot and that some counties already have them printed.

Judges Thomas J. Herbert and John Weld Peck dissented from the majority decision.

James E. Fain, state chairman of the Metropolitan Federation Committee, said his group will continue its campaign despite the decision.

"The decision of the Ohio Supreme Court does not lessen the need for such an amendment," said Fain, who is also editor of the Dayton Daily News.

He said his organization will make every effort to have a similar issue submitted to the voters two years from now.

Talks Little On President Bid

Symington Attacks Ike's Handling Of Steel Strike

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — U. S. Sen. Stuart Symington came here Tuesday night for a speech rapping the Eisenhower Administration's handling of the steel strike and the space and missile program. But the tall, graying Missourian would say little about any ambitions he may have for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Symington said in answer to questions at a news conference in Cleveland on his way here to address some 600 Lake County Democrats that he had no plans now to be a candidate.

He added that he did not intend to file in state presidential primaries and declined to say whether he had any favorite candidate for the nomination.

"If I told you that, I'd make one friend a better friend and lose about 60 other friends," was his reply.

He said he "certainly would" for the chief executive if the nominating convention drafted him.

Asked if he had an understanding with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle on the Ohio delegation to the convention, Symington said he did not. He recalled that he and DiSalle "worked together under Mr. Truman" and complimented the Ohio governor as "one of the outstanding executives in government it's been my privilege to know."

Symington said he believes the Democrats will win the presidency in 1960 because "it is becoming more and more obvious to the electorate that we don't have the leadership we need in foreign and domestic policy."

In his speech here Symington said American taxpayers are spending more than a billion dollars a year to explore space and "deserve a far better return on this investment."

Unless there is speedy action to reorganize the space and missile programs on a more businesslike basis, Symington said, U. S. security and international prestige will be impaired.

"There are now 101 separate federal bodies — departments, agencies, councils, committees and commissions—involved in the missile and space programs," he declared. "It is a maze. To any businessman it is a true Alice in Blunderland . . . .

"The clear contrast between American and Russian achievements in space has given a tremendous lift to Communist diplomacy. . . ."

Regarding the steel strike, the Missouri senator called President Eisenhower's use of the Taft-Hartley law a "most drastic, most inequitable way to halt the strike" and "a confession of failure."

He said that early in the dispute, before positions of both labor and management hardened, "the President could have avoided the steel strike if he had worked on it with the great influence of his office."

Farm Practice Listed For 30

LISBON — Activities of 30 new Co-operators are listed in the soil conservation plans of farms in Columbiana County for the first nine months, by H. L. Reuter, technician for the soil conservation office.

There were 42 basic plans, one revised plan, 13 cancelations, 87 follow-ups, 73 Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation requests and 2 conservation reserves.

The reports also shows cropland practices of 174 acres of cover cropping, 413 acres of contour strip cropping and 1,869 acres in conservation crop rotation.

Grassland — 65 acres of pasture planting and 233 acres of pasture improvement.

Wildlife — 1,257 rods of Hedgerow planting, 5 acres of wildlife area improvements and 4 fishpond improvements.

Woodland — 12 acres of improved cutting, 145 acres of tree planting and 687 acres of woodland protection.

They also drained 162 acres, using 3,015 rods of tile drains, 2 ponds, 4.8 acres of waterway developments and one spring development.

Reuter commented that completions were low this year but, weather permitting, more will be finished before the end of the year.

Woman Retires After Spending 60 Years In Pottery

After 60 years as a potter, Mrs. Stella Fowler is relaxing at her home, 140 Ravine St., where she has resided for the same length of time.

Mrs. Fowler hoped to leave the Homer Laughlin China Co. quietly last Wednesday but her fellow workers remembered her with gifts and a bouquet of red roses.

A native of East Liverpool, Mrs. Fowler started work at Laughlin's No. 2 plant in the East End in 1900. She was transfer girl for Frank Martin and then worked at other jobs before being named a forelady in 1917, a position she still held at the time of her retirement. She worked in the decorating shops at Plants 5, 6 and 7.

Mrs. Fowler and her sister, Mrs. Laura Neff, haved lived on Ravine St. for the past 60 years. Mrs. Neff retired about two years ago from the Hall China Co.

Frankfort Springs Church To Hold Thank-Offering

Edwin C. Carlson of Springdale, Pa., returned from three years of missionary service in the North Sudan, Africa, will speak at a special service Saturday night at 8 in the Frankfort Springs United Presbyterian Church near Hookstown.

Carlson will discuss his work as a teacher, baskteball coach and literacy worker in Omdurman, Sudan, and will screen color slides.

The event is a special missionary thank-offering service sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society.

Carlson served under the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian Church. He plans to study for a bachelor of divinity degree from Pittsburgh - Xenia Theological Seminary and a master's degree in religious journalism.

Following his discussion, there will be a Fellowship time and sing around an outdoor fireplace. The public is invited to attend and may bring wieners and marshmallows for roasting.

Republic Steel Reports Loss

CLEVELAND (AP) — Republic Steel Corp. reported a loss of $24,861,406, or $1.59 a common share, during the third quarter after an estimated federal income tax credit of $26,700,000. Because of the steel strike, mills operated only for the first two weeks of the period.

"In terms of the dollars involved, this is the most unsatisfactory quarterly report we have ever made to our stockholders," C. M. White, chairman, said Tuesday in announcing the figures. "In terms of the principles involved, we believe it is one of the best," he added.

The principles, explained White, are the companies' unwavering resistance to union efforts to win what he called "another infaltionary wage increase."

In spite of the third - quarter losses, the nine-month figures for the company are ahead of 1958. Sales through September amounted to $848,650,393 against $638,623,447 in the first nine months of 1958. Net profit of $42,228,311, or $2.69 a share for the first three quarters of this year, compared with $39,089,243, or $2.50 a share in the corresponding 1958 period.

White said steel inventories in the hands of customers are at a very minimum and consequently he could predict excellent business for many months ahead. During this time, he said, Republic would do "everything within our power" to make up earnings lost during the strike.

Equipment Set For School

Purchase of equipment for school use was authorized Monday night at the initial meeting of the Taft Home and School Association.

A paper cutter, library books for each room, a music book, record player and a globe will be purchased with $200 donated to the association last year by the Globe Brick Co.

The group also voted to buy a cover and blanket for a couch along with a folding screen and a new Ditto machine.

It voted a $100 donation to the Child Counseling Center and $100 for teachers to spend for classroom materials.

Frank J. Siddel, president, conducted business and introduced Miss Helen Allison, principal, who in turn introduced members of the faculty. She invited parents to visit schools during National Education Week Nov. 8-14.

Siddel also introduced committee chairmen. They included Harry Wolf, program; Mrs. Paul Edgell, membership; Edgell, playground, and Mrs. Donald E. Smith and Mrs. Siddel, delegates to the Parent - Teacher Federation.

Devotions were led by Wolf.

A talk on city planning was given by Charles Shriver with a film screened by Harold Neff.

The next meeting will be Dec. 14.

Ohio Fighters Lose

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two Ohioans on the fight card at the Palisades in nearby McKeesport failed to go the route Tuesday night. Joe Stevenson, 170, of Steubenville, was stopped in the first round by Connie Vaughn, 174, of Pittsburgh, and Alex Ford, 173, of Youngstown, was stopped in the sixth by Johnny Morris, 168, also of Pittsburgh.

Democratic Party Criticized On Failure To Pass Farm Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Democratic party was flailed here Tuesday night for failure of its congressional majority to pass a farm bill despite six pleas from President Eisenhower for some action.

Sen. Roman Hruska (R - Neb) called the Democrats "the spending party . . . the party of inflationists . . . the party of little faith in the men and women of America."

Sen. Hruska addressed his remarks to about 600 persons at a banquet of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations.

He told the delegates that the Republicans have "a program, the issues and the leadership." He added that "we even have the votes . . . and all component parts for victory . . ." But need one more ingredient—"an organization like this to get the job done."

Hruska criticized Democratic efforts to pass unneeded programs in areas already properly provided for. He said that when the Democratic members of Congress went home last Easter, the "mandate" they saw in last year's elections "was not as great as they thought it was" and caused an "about face."

The Omaha senator insisted the "conversion" of the Democratic majority in Congress to a balanced budget was "under duress" applied by the American people.

Also on the program was former U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker. He suggested the Republican party adopt "a platform in favor of the taxpayer and consumer."

He insisted that taxes are "more than are needed" and aimed a jab toward the Democratic - controlled Ohio Legislature, remarking:

"They are even taxing the old church social now."

Bricker referred to a change in the Ohio Sales tax law requiring sales tax on church dinners and socials.

Earlier, Sen. Hruska told newsmen that present indications are overwhelming that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will get the Republican nomination for president in 1960.

Ruritans In Glenmoor Elect At Dinner Event

Officers were elected when Ruritan Club members of Glenmoor entertained their wives at a dinner meeting Monday night in the Calcutta Grange Hall.

The program was presented by Dr. John A. Fraser and included an illustrated talk on a recent trip to Europe.

Elected are Howard Adrian, president; Charles Watson, vice president; Richard Brian, treasurer, and Fred Andreatta, secretary.

Mozart, in his "The Magic Flute," was the first important composer to use the glockenspiel as a musical instrument.

Cleveland Police Drop Effort To Get Sheppard Reward

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Police Department apparently has given up its long effort to collect a $10,000 reward offered by the Sheppard family for arrest and conviction of the murderer of Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard.

She was killed July 4, 1954, and her husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, is serving a life sentence for the crime following his conviction for second-degree murder.

City Law Director Ralph S. Locher said Tuesday he would make no further effort to collect the reward for Cleveland police who contended it was through their efforts Dr. Sheppard was convicted.

The city already has lost two lawsuits trying to collect the reward money which was to revert to the family if no valid claim was made within five years.

Ohio Police Chiefs Pick New Officers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer is the new president of the Ohio Assn. of Police Chiefs.

His election was announced as the group closed its 28th annual conference Tuesday night.

Shaker Heights chief Harley M. Benethum was elected first vice president. Others elected were Harry Widdon of Akron, second vice president and H. C. Weaver of East Cleveland, secretary-treasurer.

Earlier in the day, the association heard Ohio Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy. He asked for a resolution by the chiefs backing his proposal that possession of numbers slips be made a felony.

The Ohio General Assembly received the question on the final day of its 1959 session but no action was taken.

Next year the police chiefs will meet in Dayton.

Auctioneers Qualify

LISBON — Jerry Mounts of Salem and Louis E. McKenna of Lisbon qualified as auctioneers Tuesday before Common Pleas Judges Raymond S. Buzzard and Joel H. Sharp, respectively. They posted $1,000 bonds and paid the $5 yearly fee.

UCPA Holds Installation Of Officers

Installation of officers was held at the meeting of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association Tuesday night in the clinic rooms of the Mary Patterson Memorial.

Shown seated are, left to right, Richard Brian, first vice president; Lawrence Zollinger, president, and Miss Kathleen Potter, secretary-treasurer, and standing are John Eccleston, retiring president and chairman of the advisory board, and Atty. Paul Tobin, second vice president.

Committee chairman appointed by Zollinger include Mrs. Jane Jolly and Mrs. Jeanette Carpenter, affiliation; Eccleston, campaign; Brian, finance; Atty. Tobin, legislation; Mrs. Barbara Jones, program services; the Rev. Marc Anton Nocerino and Ernest John, public relations; Mrs. Dorothy Horsley, nominating; Mrs. Clara Hall, publicity, and Mrs. Marion Thompson, reception.

Rev. Nocerino, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, gave the opening prayer.

Eccleston expressed thanks for co-operation during his two-year term as president. Standley Hilbert was appointed to inquire into the transportation problem for children of the clinic.

John McDonald, chairman of the by-laws committee, reported that the constitution has not been completed. The Executive Board will meet with this committee at 7:30 p. m. Nov. 3 in the clinic rooms to complete the papers.

Zollinger reported on the State Board of Trustees meeting he attended recently in Columbus, along with Mrs. Horsley and Brian. Mrs. Horsley was elected delegate-at-large.

The president announced he will attend the national conference Nov. 19-21 at Miami Beach, Fla.

The Central Regional campaign workshop will be held Sunday at Chicago and the Ohio Council for Exceptional Children will meet Nov. 6-7 at Springfield.

Open house followed the business meeting. Members of the Junior Women's Club, which sponsors the nursery school, redecorated some of the furniture.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Thompson.

An arrangement of fall fruits and leaves centered the lacecovered buffet table.

The next meeting will be Nov. 17 in the clinic rooms.

Kiwanis Guest Criticizes T-H

Criticisms of the Taft-Hartley Act were listed by Joseph F. Rice of Pittsburgh, staff representative of the AFL-CIO, at a meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night at the City Hall auditorium.

Rice said the T-H law has failed to shake the faith of union members who have voted 93 per cent in favor of the union shop.

"The T-H law protected the commies and the crooks instead of eliminating them, and gave the scabs and strikebreakers a vote in elections," Rice said, adding the companies were given "unlimited latitude" in relations with the workers.

The unionist said the new Landrum - Griffith labor racketeering curb "is a bill of sorts, but is not strong enough to get rid of crooks in both labor and management."

Rice traced the history of the CIO, and the beneficial effects of the National Recovery Act and the Wagner Act. "Men used to work long hours for small pay, but today they work short hours with big pay."

Alvin (Pete) Arner, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Tickets were distributed for the club's annual pancake supper Nov. 11-12.

Guests included Walter Jordan, Robert Boyce, David Boyce, Cleo Linger, Alonzo Brown and Lawrence Sayre.

Wells High Sets Queen Crowning At Homecoming

Wells High School at Newell will observe its annual homecoming this weekend with a football game and crowning of a queen Friday night and a dance Saturday night.

Three senior girls were selected this week by the student body as queen candidates, while two juniors have been named to serve on the queen's court.

The Wells High Vikings will battle Stanton Local of Irondale Friday night at 8 at Newell's Memorial Field for the homecoming game.

Queen candidates are Misses Judy McCuen, Diane Robinson and Lois Ann Smith. The queen's identity will remain a secret until halftime ceremonies. She will be chosen by the football team.

Misses Ruth McCade and Sharon Haddox will serve on the homecoming court. The girls will ride in convertibles to the crowning ceremonies.

Miss Arlene Wurzel was the 1958 queen.

Students, alumni and guests are invited to attend the dance Saturday night from 8 to 11 in the high school auditorium. The Wells High Student Council is in charge of all activities. Carolyn Wilson is president.

Midland Sportsmen's Club Sets Annual Rally

The Midland Sportsmen's Club will hold its annual small game rally meeting Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 7:30 p. m. at the Polish Falcons Hall on Beaver Ave.

Plans were made during a Board of Directors meeting Monday evening. There will be movies about hunting. Refreshments will be served.

Committee chairmen appointed include Donald Scarsella, rifle range; Don Sigley, road; Andrew Vohar, building; Mike Alvania, archery; Francis Galioto, kitchen; Tom Patton, farm, and Art Petrosky, finance.

New officers include John Pierce, recently re-elected president; Sigley, vice president; H. B. Kissinger, secretary, and Galioto, treasurer.

Infant Girl Abandoned

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 6-pound 13-ounce girl police said was abandoned about an hour after birth was reported in fair condition today in St. Luke's Hospital. A 72-year-old woman walking in Woodland Hills Park Tuesday night found the infant wrapped in a hotel towel, a table cloth and a newspaper, all inside a black leatherette shopping bag.

Round lemon slices, to be served with fish, look particularly attractive if you sprinkle them with paprika and perch a tiny sprig of parsley in the center of each. If you want to be really fancy, notch the edges before garnishing.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You may or may not have settled the argument in your column on whether or not to visit sick people in hospitals but your opinion may save a life or two—if people will listen.

I am a nurse who has had to deal with this problem frequently—and it is a problem. The attitude that you must visit the sick makes me sick.

Folks who would benefit from company (the aged or crippled, or disabled children confined for long periods) seldom get company. But Uncle Jake who had a coronary last week and Aunt Tess who had a baby this morning are always surrounded by people who know the patient wants to see them but no one else.

The teen-age boy has the added hazard of 10 giggling girls struggling to sit on his bed. He may be flattered but they usually stay beyond the point where he's glad to have them.

When I was ill last year I did more entertaining in the hospital than when I was in good health at home.

The best policy is to send your hospitalized friend a card or a note saying, "I won't come to see you unless you send word and ask me."—R.N.

Dear R.N.: Thank you for a useful letter from someone who has been on both sides of the hypodermic needle. I agree that hospital visits should be by invitation only.

Bitter Experience

Dear Ann: My problem is different from any I've ever read in your column. I'm a girl, 17, and got my first job during Christmas vacation. I found it easy to steal a few articles from the store I worked in. I got caught and was fired.

My employer never told anyone but he must have put it on my record because I can't get another part-time job.

I've learned my lesson and I'd never take anything that didn't belong to me again. But how can I prove myself if no one will have faith in me? Please tell me how to get another chance.—UNTRUSTED TEEN.

-:-

Dear Untrusted: I doubt that your employer put this information on your record. Part-time jobs are hard to get, which is probably why you're having trouble.

Go to your former employer, however, and ask him. If it is on your record, plead for another chance and ask him to remove it. I hope he gives you the chance.

Divorce Risks

Dear Ann: The title of this letter should be "Don't Marry a Divorced Man" or, better still, "Don't Buy Somebody's Trouble."

I'm 23 and have been married two years. When my friends see me on the street they ask if I've been sick. I look terrible.

The man I married is handsome, suave and somewhat temperamental. When he gets mad he throws things, slams doors, knocks over furniture and calls me unprintable names. I just sit and shake all over. In other words, I'm getting the same treatment his first wife got.

My mother told me a divorced man is a poor risk but I didn't believe her. I do now. Pass the word.—BATTLE SCARRED.

-:-

Dear Battle Scarred: Thanks for the benefit of your experience but the statistics are on the other side.

When one or both parties are veterans of a previous marital battle the chances for a lasting marriage are slightly better than with two rookies.

The statistics take a turn for worse, however, at the three-time loser plateau. Anyone who has had three P-f-f-t-t-ts at the altar has less chance to make the next one stick—and the percentages decrease from then on.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make a quick temporary repair on a leaky water pipe?

A. Simply cover the leak with a split piece of rubber garden hose, holding this in place with an ordinary hose clamp. For a more permanent repair, of course, you'll have to drain your pipe and patch the leak with some iron cement.

Q. How can I keep the grains of rice separate when cooking?

A. Add a teaspoonful of lemon juice to each quart of water when boiling rice and it will help keep grains separate, and also makes the rice white.

Q. How can I remove some shoe polish stains from a rug?

A. Cleaning fluid usually works well on these stains. Follow this with a regular washing with soap and water and a little ammonia.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Review Of A Moody Drama

"The Fallen Idol" is a play of mood, quiet and dimly lit, a tragic romantic escapade as seen through the eyes of a child. It is a story overheard rather than seen head-on, overheard and misunderstood, a story caught in whispers at the head of the stairs and at the end of long corridors and seen through keyholes. Sylvio Narizzano, the Canadian who directed it, used long, long shots — something that has almost disappeared in our fetish for the closeup—and a constantly moving fluid camera to give us the effect of space and emptiness in a huge embassy in London.

John Crosby

The boy, played by Jacques Hirschler, an appealing French lad who has had no previous acting experience, rarely sees his mother or his father and has attached himself to the butler (Jack Hawkins) whom he adores.

The butler, Baines, is married to a virago (Jessica Tandy) and is on the threshold of an affair with an embassy secretary (Dina Merrill).

-:-

THE BOY BLUNDERS along on the edge of this adult lunacy trying to preserve his little-boy sanity. When the wife is killed accidentally trying to spy on the lovers, the boy assumes his idol has killed her and tries to protect him with lies which only implicate the butler.

Then the boy tries to tell the truth as his adult friends advise him and that would get his pal into even worse trouble except the adults don't pay any attention.

The story is full of the delicious ironies which Graham Greene loves so well and full of fine, robust scenes. A hide-and-seek game through the cavernous empty house I found both enchanting and a little scary.

Hawkins was admirable in the lead. Dina Merrill was beautiful and her acting is beginning to show signs of maturity. And Jessica Tandy was terribly unlovable in what must be the most thankless role she ever had.

Altogether, it was very British, very unusual and very adult drama.

-:-

THERE'S A NEW quiz show going the rounds, according to my spies. Three guys come in and sit down at the table. The panel asks each one the same question, assesses the answers and the idea is —which guy is honest?

-:-

IF THERE IS any trend in television this year, it's the musician who plays detective. It's a trend that started last year with "Pete Kelly's Blues" but has intensified this year with "Johnny Staccato."

If your best friend has been mowed down by mobsters, do you go to the cops in pursuit of justice? No, you go talk to a saxophone player. Naturally.

If the hero doesn't play the instrument himself, he knows someone who does. He hangs around the jazz joints. The beat pounds away during the love scenes—all the influence of "Peter Gunn." The story line is secondary to the music and everyone is seeking another Kookie.

-:-

ABC'S "Bourbon Street Beat" has got almost the perfect title to exploit this trend. It's a street like "77 Sunset Strip"; it's the heart of Dixieland. It's boozy. Man, it's got everything. Except a story or characters or a spark of originality.

This opens with a blare of jazz —but it isn't even Dixieland jazz. The jazz background throughout is terribly progressive, terribly cool and terribly unlikely.

The acting is impassive; the background is Southern, all right, with a touch of decadence as they understand that word on the Warner Bros. lot. Tennessee Williams cleaned up for family consumption.

There's a private detective played by Richard Long, who is handsome, deep-voiced and not especially memorable. He has a partner played by Andrew Duggan. And they always wind up slugging it out with the killers in a warehouse.

There was a popular gag on the Warner Bros. lot about the rustlers from one Western shooting up the Indians from the wrong series.

Well, that stock warehouse must be getting awfully crowded, too. One day they're going to turn up the lights in that warehouse and find the hero has beaten up the murderer from somebody else's picture.

Burglar Gets $40 At Beauty Shop

Police today continued investigation of a $40 burglary reported Tuesday by the operator of a downtown beauty shop.

Clyde Silverthorn, operator of the Ceramic Beauty Shop, 205 W. 5th St., told police an intruder ransacked a desk in his business place between Saturday and Tuesday, taking a green plastic money box that contained 15 $1 bills, 2 $5 bills and $15 in silver.

Entrance apparently was gained through the rear door by use of a skeleton key, officers said. There was no sign of forcible entry and the rear door was found unlocked, police said. Silverthorn said the shop was entered sometime between 4:30 p. m. Saturday and 8:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Halloween Parade Set For New Waterford

NEW WATERFORD — A Halloween parade will be held Oct. 31 by community organizations with prizes for the best costumes.

The procession will start at 6:30 p. m. Joseph Fittanti, general chairman, said.

County To Buy Car

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners will advertise for bids for a two-door coach for the county sealer of weights and measures, Harry Gosney of Columbiana. A jeep with 100,000 miles, now being used, will be traded in.

Third Quarter Gain Reported Despite Strike

Ten of 13 East Liverpool business and industrial indices finished the third quarter at levels higher than those they attained in the first 9 months of 1958, although the effects of the nationwide steel strike continued to be felt in September.

The Chamber of Commerce reported today in its monthly summary of conditions that a comparison of the first 3 quarters of 1959 with the same period of 1958 shows gains in bank clearings and debits, sales tax receipts, industrial payrolls, inbound railroad carloadings, river traffic and tonnage, new car sales and parking meter receipts.

The only declines in the comparison of the two years were in industrial employment and outbound railroad carloadings, along with an increase in the city's relief case load.

But there was a general decline shown in most lines between August and September. Three of the best business barometers, however, showed increases last month. They are sales tax receipts, industrial payrolls and employment. As the effect of the steel strike widened, there was a boost in the city's relief case load. Ten other indices showed declines in the monthly comparison.

Payrolls at 11 area factories hit $10,008,809 for the first 3 quarters, up 4.8 per cent from the $9,549,943 shown at the same time in 1958. The same plants paid out $1,198,911 in wages in September, up 11.1 per cent from the $1,079,617 shown in August.

Employment at the same plants hit 3,930 in September, a gain of 0.05 per cent from the 3,910 shown in August. Employment has averaged 4,098 monthly through the third quarter, down 5.6 per cent from the 4,343 average shown at the same time in 1958.

Sales tax recepts hit $44,535 in September, an increase of 6.7 per cent from the $41,749 shown in August. Since July 1, the sales tax figures have not included levies collected on auto sales. In the first nine months of 1959, the collections hit $478,713, up 4.3 per cent from the $459,013 shown at the same time in 1958.

New car sales in Columbiana County hit 2,651 through the third quarter, up 32.5 per cent from 2,001 shown at the same time in 1958. They totaled 249 in September, down 19.7 per cent from the 310 registered in August.

Used car sales totaled 500 in September, down 23.1 per cent from August's 650. They stand at 7,486 through the third quarter of 1959. No comparable figure is available for the first 9 months of 1958.

The city's relief case load averaged 86 monthly through the third quarter, down 18.9 per cent from the monthly average of 106 shown at the same time during the 1958 industrial cutback. The case load hit 113 in September, up 54.8 per cent from the 73 shown in August.

Parking meter receipts total $42,759 for the first three quarters, off 9.1 per cent from the $47,017 shown at the same time in 1958. They hit $4,477 in September, a decline of 7.7 per cent from August's $4,853.

Inbound railroad carloadings totaled 2,853 for the first 3 quarters, a gain of 31.1 per cent from the 2,176 shown at the same time in 1958. They hit 281 in September, off 4.7 per cent from the 295 shown in August.

Outbound carloadings totaled 2,411 for the first 3 quarters, up 18.8 per cent from the 2,030 shown at the same time in 1958. They fell from 191 in August to 178 in September, a drop of 6.8 per cent.

Dam 8 at Newell locked through 3,709 river tows in the first 3 quarters, a gain of 15.1 per cent from the 3,223 shown at the same time in 1958. In September, 426 tows were handled, a drop of 11.3 per cent from August's 480.

The traffic in the first 3 quarters represented 12,434,305 tons, up 6.8 per cent from the 11,646,575 shown at the same time in 1958. September's tonnage was 842,800, down 21 per cent from the 1,066,100 shown in August.

Postal receipts hit $172,473 for the first three quarters, up 14.7 per cent from the $150,323 shown at the same time in 1958. They hit $14,938 in September, off 12.8 per cent from the $17,130 shown in August.

Bank debits averaged $21,991,872 monthly in the first three quarters, off 5.5 per cent from the $20,805,579 average shown at the same time in 1958. September showed debits of $21,214,605, a decline of 5.9 per cent from August's $22,536,784.

Bank clearings hit $29,812,195 through the third quarter, up 4.4 per cent from the $28,569,588 shown at the same time in 1958. They totaled $3,228,392 in September, a drop of 1.4 per cent from the $3,275,282 shown in August.

Bulb Of Tilted Lamp Chars Floor Of Attic

The lighted bulb in a lamp charred the attic floor at the home of Councilman W. E. (Pete) Kaiser Jr., 1955 St. Clair Ave., Tuesday night at 9:10, according to city firemen.

Kaiser said the lamp was laid down flat Friday after he had finished some work in the attic. Mrs. Kaiser last night turned on the attic lights and the heat from the bulb started burning the floor.

Heavy smoke resulted and it took a while to trace the source.

Killed In Collision

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A two-car crash on U.S. 20 Tuesday night killed Anthony P. Paollilo, 52, of Ashtabula. State patrolmen said Paollilo's car collided with a vehicle turning from the highway near North Madison.

Ohio To Open Link In Interstate System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another link in Ohio's 1,428-mile interstate highway system will be opened to traffic Friday near St. Clairsville.

The new section is a 1.9-mile strip of U. S. 40 between interchanges at Banfield Rd. and Ohio 214. This four-lane section makes a total of 50 miles of U. S. 40 which have been improved according to federal standards.

Cost of the new section was almost 2½ million dollars, the Ohio Highway Department said today. Three major bridges are included in the project.

Former owners of property on the right-of-way were invited to make the first trip on the new road.

Mental Health Topic For PTA

Mrs. Violet Peterson of East Palestine, county health nurse, discussed "Mental Health" when the Calcutta Patron-Teacher Association met Monday night.

An estimated 95 attended. A musical program was presented by the Sweet Adelines barbershop singers of East Liverpool. Glen Woods directed the group.

Howard Bomberger, president, presided and a report on the work of a projects committee was presented by William Rayburn, chairman. A letter was read from George VanHorne, executive head of the Beaver Local School District, urging support at the Nov. 3 election of a 3 mill operating levy up for renewal.

Parents were invited to visit the schools anytime. A motion was adopted to purchase 60 reading circle books and a set of phonic records. Arthur Doak reported on a Board of Education meeting he attended.

Lunch was served by the third grade mothers headed by Mrs. Louise Shaffer. The second grade won the attendance banner. Invocation was given by the Rev. Robert K. Fogal of the Longs Run Presbyterian Church.

The next meeting is Nov. 16.

Jaycees To Sponsor Lisbon Children's Fete

LISBON — A children's Halloween party will be held Saturday, Oct. 31, at Lincoln School by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The affair will be from 7 to 9, according to Richard Kuhns, public relations chairman.

There will be games, prizes for costumes and refreshments. William Stanley, chairman, said it is open to all children in Lisbon and vicinity.

Beaver Wool Growers Favor Sales Promotion

BEAVER — Beaver County wool producers have voted in favor of continuing deductions from their government wool payments to finance a market promotion program, G. M. Swick, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today.

Final results show producers owning 1,353 sheep voted in favor of retaining the deduction plan and those owning 157 sheep voted against. As individual producers, the vote was 24 for and 5 against, Swick said.

Potters At Struthers, Salem Invades Wellsville Friday

Newell Meets Irondale In Homecoming

Eighth - ranked East Liverpool will travel to Struthers Friday night and Salem will invade Wellsville in two of the top contests on a 13-game schedule this weekend.

At stake at Struthers is East Liverpool's four-game winning streak and its spot among Ohio's top 10 teams.

Salem, although losing one game to an out-of-state foe — Ambridge —has not been scored upon by an Ohio team and must protect its string of four straight shutouts when the Quakers invade Nicholson Stadium.

Eight games are listed for Friday and five more will round out the schedule Saturday.

Newell will be celebrating homecoming and at the same time will be looking for its first victory against Irondale Friday.

In other games Friday, United, which has come to life to win its last three games, faces some stiff competition at Carrollton.

Lisbon will be shooting for its fifth win in six starts when the Blue Devils entertain Louisville.

Columbiana, which has found the football road rocky this season, will be after its second win at Sebring. East Palestine will go after its 16th straight victory over a three-year period at Minerva and New Cumberland will play host to Wellsburg.

Chester is idle this weekend and will not return to the gridiron until next Friday at St. Mary's.

Midland and Hopewell top Saturday's card of five games. The contest was originally scheduled for Friday night, but was shifted to Aliquippa High School Stadium on Saturday.

South Side will travel to Madonna in quest of its third victory in seven starts, while Fairfield-Waterford will go to Beaver Local, Salineville will entertain Wayne and Leetonia will be at Poland.

Nichols Leads Iowa State In Total Offense

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

One hundred, sixty-five pounds of Nichols has added up to a fortune in football talent for Iowa State and is paying off in the Cyclone's first winning season in a decade.

The investment is Dwight (Moe) Nichols, a 5-foot 10, 165-pound halfback from Knoxville, Iowa who has been one of the nation's offensive standouts the past two seasons, in addition to leading the Big Eight in total offense.

Nichols, who spent 44 months in the Navy before enrolling at Iowa State, plays tailback in Coach Clay Stapleton's single wing offense that has rolled to a 4-1 record.

With help from fullback Tom Watkins, he is rewriting the school's offense records. Nichols is fifth nationally in total offense with 674 yards and 10th in rushing with 347 yards in 100 carries. Watkins, a perfect foil for his running mate's all-around offenseive talent, is second in rushing with 457 yards in 80 rushes.

But it is Nichols who is carrying the brunt of the offensive load. He is fourth in passing in the Big Eight with 327 yards, completing 25 of 43 attempts. His chief receiver is Don Webb, who leads the conference in pass completions with 15 and is second in yardage with 177.

Both Nichols and Watkins are tied in scoring with 30 points on five touchdowns.

Both Clemson and South Carolina Tuesday went through their final workouts prior to Thursday's state fair game. Clemson will have all hands in top shape for the first time this year.

Dave Ash moved to the No. 1 center post at Illinois with Stan Yukevich dropping to the second team. Allen Schoonover took over at one of the end spots at Wisconsin for the injured Jim Homes.

Notre Dame Coach Joe Kuharich moved halfback Pat Doyle to the fullback post, where he alternated with soph Joe Perkowski. The first three fullbacks are on the injured list.

350 Potter Fans Watch Warren Movies At M-A

The enthusiasm of the victory over Warren last Friday night was still alive Tuesday night when close to 350 Potter fans viewed movies of the Warren-East Liverpool game at Memorial Auditorium.

It was the largest crowd ever to turn out at a Blue and White Nonpareil Club meeting.

Coach Lou Venditti screened the movies and narrated the action for the fans. A movie of the Alliance-East Liverpool game of 1956 featuring Bernie Allen also was shown.

Venditti introduced his coaching staff and reviewed the scouting report on Struthers.

A business meeting was not held Tuesday night because of the length of the movies. H. A. "Hap" Tullis, president, presided and introduced Venditti.

Grades released by Venditti this week for the Potters' offensive play showed quarterback Bob Mackall leading the class for the fifth straight week.

Mackall was given a 93 while Tim Archer, who was a bearcat on defense against Warren, topped the linemen with an 86. Dave Zelch had an 85 and John Goodballet 80.

EL-Struthers Tickets Go On Sale Thursday

Tickets for the Struthers-East Liverpool game Friday night at Struthers will go on sale Thursday morning at Brians' Men's Shop on W. 5th St. Only general admission tickets will be sold since there are no reserved seats at Struthers. Game time Friday night is 7:45 p. m.

Redskin Quarterbacks Test Browns' Defense

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns' defense, which has given up fewer points than any team in the National Football League, will be tested Sunday by two of the league's top passers—Washington Redskins quarterbacks Eddie LeBaron and Ralph Guglielmi.

LeBaron, an agile runner with lots of poise, is nursing a sprained ankle. He's exepcted to start Sunday if the ankle responds to treatments.

Coach Paul Brown said his defensive strategy will be about the same whether LeBaron plays or whether it's Guglielmi, current NFL leader in passing.

"Neither is a flat-footed quarterback who sticks in the pocket," Brown said. "LeBaron probably is a bit shiftier, but Guglielmi has been able to improvise and hurt us.

"No question about it, the 'Skins have two fine passers."

LeBaron, in his 10th season, is 30 pounds lighter than the 195-pound Guglielmi, who has had two previous pro seasons. From Columbus, Guglielmi starred at Notre Dame and was drafted by Washington in 1955. Service in the Air Force kept him out of NFL play in 1956-57.

Junior High Teams Are Scheduled Today

Both junior high school teams will be busy today. East Junior High entertains Steubenville Central at Patterson Field beginning at 4:30 while Westgate travels to East Palestine.

Quits At Xavier U.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Jerry Johnson, a promising sophomore halfback from Hamilton, Ohio, has withdrawn from Xavier University here. Head Coach Ed Doherty said Tuesday Johnson "had a fine potential but also had personal problems."

Moore Stops British Champ

LONDON (AP)—World featherweight champion Davey Moore took just 2 minutes, 55 seconds to batter Bobby Neill, British titleholder, to a humiliating defeat Tuesday night.

With barely a bead of sweat on his body after the fight, the 26-year-old champion from Springfield Ohio, said:

"Boy, I wish they all were like that. I caught him right on the button."

It wasn't Moore's fastest victory though. He beat "Bird" Marino in 2 minutes 28 seconds.

Neill, 26, who made three comebacks after suffering crippling injuries in road accidents and a broken jaw in a fight had no time to show anything but courage.

Four times he smashed to the canvas only to hoist himself painfully back into a battle that was never more than a massacre.

Near tears in his dressing room after Referee Tommy Little mercifully stopped the fight with five seconds of the first round still to go, the plucky little Scot said he had no plans to quit the ring.

Suit Dismissal Upheld

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Dismissal of an injunction suit to block annexation of an area of Brownhelm Twp. by the city of Lorain was upheld by the Ninth District Court of Appeals Tuesday. Further appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court was seen as next step in the controversy, more than two years old. Taxes from the 2,100-acre area, which includes the Ford Assembly Plant, cannot be turned over to the city until court action is completed. The city, however, has been servicing the area since last March.

TCU Choice Over Pitt

Wildcats, Purdue, OSU Picked In Top Contests

NEW YORK (AP) — Why did they increase the width between the goal posts in college football?

Well, the reason is that certain wide-beamed forecasts should be booted out of the end zone because they were unable to predict that Ohio State would handle Purdue and that Pittsburgh would be handled by West Virginia last weekend.

Sailing between the posts with the greatest of squeeze, here are this week's winners, with the understanding that the forecasts are no better than a week end ago when the average was .708 on 34 winners in 48 decisions:

Louisiana State over Florida: The Bayou Bengals rarely do more than they have to, but the formula seems to work. So the pick is Billy Cannon & Co. again.

Northwestern Over Notre Dame: One of these days this Notre Dame team will jell and make everyone look silly—including the foe on the field. But not this weekend.

Texas over Rice: This is pure suicide. But one must stay with that Texas speed in the line and Rene Ramirez.

Mississippi over Arkansas: Our Memphis operator says these two teams are as good as any in the country, but that Bobby Franklin makes the Rebels the choice.

Southern California over Stanford: The Trojan blockers hit like a wooden horse.

Syracuse over West Virginia: The Mountaineers' season ended with that victory over Pittsburgh.

Auburn over Miami: With relative ease.

Penn State over Illinois: Only because the Big Ten team is concentrating on its conference problems.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: Two surprise teams. Tech surprised by being better than expected, Tulane by being below par.

Oregon over Washington: Because the Webfoots handled the Air Force with such ease.

Wisconsin over Ohio State: Dale Hackbart has the benefit of the home crowd in stopping the Buckeyes.

Purdue over Iowa: But it will be close.

Texas Christian over Pittsburgh: The only explanation seems to be that the steel strike seems to trouble the Panthers.

Clemson over the South Carolina: The last of these Thursday afternoon state fair tea-parties winds up as a Clemson triumph.

Yale over Colgate: The Bulldogs haven't been scored upon and Colage hasn't won this season.

Oklahoma over Kansas: Hardly a man is now alive who remembers that famous day and year when Oklahoma lost a Big Eight game.

Salem-Wellsville Tickets Go On Sale

Tickets are now on sale for the Wellsville-Salem football game Friday night at 7:30 (EST) in Nicholson Stadium in Wellsville, Don Lowe, faculty manager, announced. Fans may purchase tickets for $1 each at Culp's and McMorrow's drug stores, Lowe said. The game was previously scheduled for 8 p. m. but was moved to 7:30 because Wellsville is on Eastern Standard Time and Salem is on Daylight Saving Time.

Rodriguez 2-To-1 Pick Over Logart

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Luis Rodriguez, the Cuban welterweight whose technique of pouring on the punches has brought him undefeated through his last 24 fights, is a 2-1 favorite to lick Isaac Logart in their 10 round bout tonight.

The 22-year-old Rodriguez, sixth among welters, beat the No. 2 contender, Rudell Stitch, and former champion Virgil Akins earlier this year. The 10th ranked Logart, defeated in his last three fights, has a 55-13-7 record.

Both men are natives of Camaguey, Cuba, but Rodriguez now lives in Havana and Logart in New York. Rodriguez, who throws an unusual number of punches per round, holds the Cuban welterweight title.

The fight at Miami Beach Auditorium will be telecast nationally over ABC starting at 10 p.m.

Tebbets Happy With Job, Doesn't Want To Manage

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Birdie Tebbetts, a fiery field leader who wanted to move up, said today he likes his job as executive vice president of the Milwaukee Braves and his crystal ball doesn't show any return to uniform as a manager.

"I made my decision to get out of managing a year ago," Tebbetts told The Associated Press. "I said at the time I took this job I had no desire to manage and nothing has happened to change my mind."

The former American League catcher and Cincinnati manager added, however, that "something could happen to change my mind because I don't have the power to look into the future."

Tebbetts was reached after an informed source said in New York Tuesday that he is Milwaukee owner Lou Perini's personal choice to succeed Fred Haney and very likely will be drafted to manage the Braves in 1960.

"My name has never come up in all the discussions between Mr. Pereini, (general manager) John Mc Hale and myself," the 47-year-old club executive said. "Lou has never approached me. He knows my feelings."

According to the source, Perini has been using his best salesmanship to try and convince Tebbetts that a move from the front office back to the field would benefit the club.

Tebbetts said that he and Mc Hale have discussed several managerial possibilities, but emphasized that "no one has been contacted."

"The reason it has taken so long is that it's a big job," he said. "No decision has been reached. In fact, we haven't narrowed down to one man as a choice."

According to the informant, Perini gave serious consideration to only two other possibilities—Leo Durocher and Charlie Dressen. Should the reluctant Tebbetts convince Perini he is more valuable in the brass division, Dressen is reported next in line.

Illinois' Star Honored As Lineman-Of-Week

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a rarity when sports writers at a football game peg their stories on a lineman. To achieve such a distinction the usually unsung boy up front has to do something extraordinary.

Bill Burrell, Illinois guard, hit the headlines in spectacular fashion last Saturday against Minnesota. His sterling play against the Gophers brought him added recognition today as lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Burrell made 16 tackles, recovered a fumble and stole a pass in a 14-6 triumph over Minnesota.

The 207-pound Negro captain of the Illini from Clifton, Ill., recovered a Minnesota fumble at midfield in the second quarter to start his team's first scoring drive.

Another guard, Bill Davis of Wichita, gained honor as the Missouri Valley Conference lineman of the week for his play that helped the shockers gain a 28-28 tie with Cincinnati. Davis made seven unassisted tackles and intercepted a pass.

A couple of ends—Lee Folkins of the University of Washington and George Van Vliet of Southern California — were honored for their play in the same game.

Folkins was named the Big Five's lineman of the week. He played nearly the whole game against the victorious Trojans. He caught four passes good for 52 yards and was a standout on defense. Vliet made seven tackles, recovered a fumble which led to Southern Cal's first touchdown and caught a pass for a 2-point conversion in a 22-15 triumph.

Ken Rice, Auburn tackle, led the 71-yard drive that led to a 7-6 surprise that knocked Georgia Tech out of the unbeaten ranks.

Burdette Tops Pitchers With Gopher Balls

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves gave up 38 home runs in 1959, the most allowed by any major league pitcher. This was 20 more than he yielded in 1958.

Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers paced the American League in gopher balls the past season with 37.

Burdette's chief tormentors were the Chicago Cubs, figures released by the Associated Press showed today. The Cubs slammed 11 homers off the right-handed veteran. Ernie Banks of the Cubs and Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco tagged Burdette for four homers each.

Burdette worked 290 innings, winning 21 games and losing 15. In 1958, he pitched 275 innings, allowing only 18 homers with a 20-10 record.

Bunning, also a right-hander pitched 250 innings the past year and had a 17-13 record. The Cleveland Indians hit him for nine homers and Kansas City for seven. He had the most trouble with Harmon Killebrew of Washington and Minnie Minoso of Cleveland, giving up three home runs to each. Bunning allowed 28 homers in 1958.

English Jockeys Learn To Ride The Hard Way

American jockeys live the "Life o' Riley" compared with riders from England, according to Jockey Anthony Grogan, now bootin' 'em home at Waterford Park's 42-day fall racing season.

The 25-year-old stirruper from Birmingham, England, is making his West Virginia debut this year and already has impressed grandstand critics with his saddle finesse.

He did not come by his ability easily. It all goes back to a day in 1951 when he joined the stable owned by the Duke of Norfolk, when he was one of 14 fledglings seeking a career on the English turf. Then weighing 85 pounds dripping wet, he did nothing for two years but clean out stalls, curry horses and shine saddles and tack before being given a boot up on the back of a horse.

"In this country a boy often rides before the close of two years," Grogan said. "In England trainers think it takes that long for a boy to even get the 'feel' of a horse."

Even training methods overseas are considerably different from those prevailing in this land. A boy was expected to gallop three horses a morning, traveling in sets of 14, jogging four or five miles through the woods, and then returning home to be "boned", or rubbed dry with a sack or straw.

These morning chores took up his day from 6 until Noon, and he would return in the afternoon to again clean out the stalls, wash and brush his horses and put them away for the night, fortified with hay and water.

"And your horse had better be clean, too," said young Grogan. "The Duke was apt to pass by at almost any hour, and he expected your horse to be almost clean enough to reflect his image."

It is difficult, perhaps, to associate all of these chores with the final development of a rider, and yet in England all are felt to be essentials if the boy is to be completely ready to accept his saddle responsibilities on that glorious day when he dons silks for the first time.

The day came to Grogan at Kempton Park where he was quick to win his first race, and then go on to score in numerous other events.

"Meetings in England are short and horses are vanned in for their races," he explained. "That means they must be 'tried' in the privacy of a farm, rathern than on the training strip. This is done with full weight up, so that a trainer has a complete line on his horse's speed when he finally is sent to the racing wars."

Anthony Grogan has been in the country for several years, first with the Rhode Island stable of W. J. Beattie, and subsequently with E. I. Kelly, for whom he piloted the good horse Itobe and others. He is currently with Gail Osborne, one of the leading trainers at Waterford Park.

Vanadium is the hardest of all metals.

There is one good thing about the duck season in Columbiana County — it must bring smiles to the ammunitionmakers. I actually believe for each duck taken one box of shotgun shells is fired.

In view of the fact that there were no gunshot casualties that I know of, it was more fun than a four-ring circus. Did you ever light a string of firecrackers then step back and listen to the subsequent explosions? That's the way duck season opened on the Guilford marshes.

—:—

AN ESTIMATED 400 ducks and 32 Canadian geese were on the Salem Reservoir and the nearby marshy area. The geese left the reservoir 50 minutes before the barrage began. They returned sometimes during the night and three Salem men — Jack Sonagere, Harold Peters and Dale Leyman — bagged one each the next morning, Saturday.

Greenwing teal and baldpates comprised the largest single group of ducks, while other species traveled in small groups or singles.

Black and greenhead mallards led the list of ducks taken, according to my hunter bag check. Wood ducks were not as plentiful as in previous years in this particular area. One wood duck is all a hunter is allowed in one day.

A word of caution to all duck hunters: You must know your ducks or you run the risk of arrest any time you go duck hunting.

One of the easiest ducks to bag is the little ruddy duck. You are allowed only one and only one in possession at any time. These are the little fellows called "butterballs." They are very easy to identify, since their tail stands straight up in the air unlike any other duck.

IF YOU have a ruddy in possession, then you may not have either a canvasback or a redhead.

Of these three specimens you are allowed only one. Therefore, you will be in a bad way if you are caught with more than one in possession. This means it is up to the hunter to select the one he wants. State and federal authorities are clamping down becuase these ducks are not reproducing normally due to drought conditions in their northern breeding grounds.

Now before you yell too long and too loud about the restrictions you must make up your mind if you want protection of extermination.

When Nature begins to cut down on reproduction, the shooting must of necessity be curtailed, if not stopped. That is exactly the duty of federal and state departments of wildlife officials, to regulate the hunting seasons. Otherwise, ducks could go the way of the passenger pigeons.

—:—

NOW IF you want to bag a duck or two you really have to hunt for them in this county. They seek out the pot-holes in the marshes and sit tight. Also, they seek security on some of the smaller streams and the nearby Ohio River, where they are seldom ever taken. Jump shooting along the creeks will provide some sport.

I never have seen so many green wing teal this early in the season.

They usually come along later with the flight ducks and travel with the mallards. Blue-wing teal are the early birds, but they haven't arrived in any numbers. I saw only two taken the first two days of hunting. Could it be we have a shortage of blue wings and that they need protection and have gone unnoticed?

Stanford Star Leads Nation In Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Competition for individual offensive honors among the nation's college football players seems to be dwindling to a battle for the runnerup spots.

Two players — Dick Norman of Stanford and Pervis Atkins of New Mexico State — took the lead in three offensive departments at the start of the season and show no signs of relinquishing it.

Norman leads in two departments. His 809 yards are tops in total offense by 80 yards, and his 65 pass completions are nine more than his nearest rivals, Joe Caldwell of Army and Pete Hall of Marquette, according to official NCAA statistics released today.

There still is a tight race for punting honors. Joe Zuger of Arizona State took over the top spot last week, with a season's average of 50.3 yards, two yards more than Darrell Harper of Michigan.

The wider goal post cross bar has been a tonic to the field goal kickers. Wake Forest has won three games via that method. The two - point - after - touchdown tries are running 19 per cent behind last year. Wendell Harris of LSU tops the field goal booters with four.

Greatest gain of the week in individual offense was made by Iowa's Olen Treadway, who jumped from 42nd to 8th in total offense and from 21st to 4th in passing by completing 26 of 41 tosses for 304 yards against Wisconsin.

Palestine To Dedicate Reid Memorial Stadium

EAST PALESTINE — Dedication of the John B. Reid Memorial Stadium has been scheduled Nov. 13 when the East Palestine High School football team will play Columbiana.

Roy S. Blackburn, member of the Board of Education, and high school principal H. S. Laber head the committee preparing a ceremony for the event.

The stadium is named for the late John B. Reid, high school teacher for 12 years, president of Council and actively interested in athletics prior to his death a year ago.

Ex-Rail Shop Burns

DENNISON, Ohio (AP)—A former car shop of the Pennsylvania Railroad burned to the ground Tuesday night in a spectacular fire that departments from here and Uhrichsville fought for about two hours. Hundreds of spectators were attracted the blaze by flames which shot as high as 100 feet above the 150-foot-long wood and galvanized sheet building. Cause of the fire was being investigated.

Favors Fluoridation

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The City Board of Health says it favors fluoridation of the city water supply a proposal up for decision by voters in the Nov. 3 election. The board said Tuesday "if a child from conception receives properly fluoridated water, we know that he will have the lifetime benefits of better teeth."

Smith Pressing Brown For Lead In Offense

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—For the second straight week Cleveland's Jimmy Brown leads the National Football League in rushing but J. D. Smith of San Francisco is pressing him for the top spot, statistics released today showed.

Brown has picked up 437 yards on 101 carries for a four-game average of 4.3 compared to Smith's 410 yards in 78 tries for a 5.3 average. Ollie Matson of Los Angeles is third with 403 yards on 66 carries good for a 6.1 average.

Quarterback Ralph Guglielmi of Washington leads the passers for the second week in a row with 21 completions out of 45 attempts for 439 yards and a 9.76 average gain. New York's Chuck Conerly has moved into the No. 2 spot with 656 yards on 47 completions out of 79 tries for a 8.30 average. Standings are based on average gain per pass attempted.

Woodley Lewis of the Chicago Cardinals continues to enjoy a big bulge as the best pass receiver. His 21 catches have netted him 397 yards and two touchdowns. Second is Frank Gifford of New York with 20 catches and 301 yards.

In the scoring department Tommy McDonald of Philadelphia dropped from first to third, giving way to Tom Davis of San Francisco and Bobby Layne of Pittsburgh. Davis has 34 points, Layne has 31 points and McDonald has 30.

Arkansas Star Who Quit Bids For All-American

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Speedy halfback Jim Mooty, after twice quitting the Arkansas Razorback football team, has become a candidate for All-America honors. And his loudest booster is his coach, Frank Broyles.

"I don't know what criteria they use for judging All-America football players," Broyles said after his team's tough workout in preparation for the Mississippi game Saturday. "But Jim Mooty has done everything you could ask of any player."

Mooty, a 165-pound scatback who loses 10 pounds per game but gains it back during the week, was named All-Southwest Conference last year as a junior. That was after leaving the team for two games, then asking to return and being unanimously voted back by his teammates.

Last spring, doctors told him he would have to quit football because of recurring headaches and dizzy spells, but treatment and new examinations this fall clared him for combat.

Since then he's been the backbone of a Razorback team that has won four games and lost one —to third-ranked Texas.

Smoke Damage Heavy

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A general alarm fire here Tuesday caused heavy smoke damage to two downtown stores, firemen said. They blamed defective wiring in the basement of a jewelry store for the blaze.

2 Ohioans Survive Seniors Golf Play

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Two out of three Ohioans have survived first round play in the North and South Senior Golf Tournament here. But medalist Allen Rankin of Columbus, Ohio, was eliminated 1 up as match play began Tuesday by Paul Dunkel of Hackensack, N. J.

John Roberts of Columbus defeated Martin McCarthy of Chevy Chase, Md., 1 up. James BeCame of Cincinnati defeated J. O. Herring of Atlanta, 3 and 2.

Pitt Students Hang Grid Coach In Effigy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Coach Johnny Michelosen of the Pitt Panthers has joined the ranks of college gridiron coaches to have been hung in effigy by students.

The Pitt News, the university's weekly school newspaper, said Tuesday that a stuffed dummy was found hanging from a tree along Bigelow Blvd. near the Student Union Monday.

Attached to the dummy was a sign reading "Mike take a hike."

The incident followed Pitt's upset loss to West Virginia 23-15 last Saturday at Morgantown.

Los Angeles Open Sets Record $44,500 Purse

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 34th annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament Jan. 7-11 will be played for a purse of $44,500, highest in its history.

The previous high was $40,000 last January. The tournament will be played again at the Rancho Municipal course in West Los Angeles.

Announcement of the prize money was made today by Chairman Don Selten of the sponsoring Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Shucker Discovers 48 Pearls In One Oyster

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — An oyster shucker at a local sea food market, Charles Wantz, found 48 pearls in an oyster Tuesday.

Prof. John S. McDermott, biologist at Franklin and Marshall College, said that "48 pearls in a single oyster are unheard of as far as I know."

Wantz gave the pearls to the school's biology department after jewelers said they were irregular and worthless except for science and curiosity.

Gets Ford Grant

CLEVELAND (AP)—Case Institute of Technology will use a million-dollar grant received Tuesday night from the Ford Foundation to establish a systems research center and engineering design laboratory. The systems research center will study problems as diverse as guided missiles and organization of supermarkets, said Dr. John A. Hrones, vice president of academic affairs. He said a major share of the Ford grant will be used for graduate fellowships. Part of the money will add new faculty members, he added.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Starting Diet Is Toughest Part Of Reducing

While this dietitian tries to give reducing the light touch, I never want to give the impression that there is nothing to taking off 40, 50 or more pounds, or that starting a diet doesn't take courage. It does. In fact, the start is the toughest part of many overweights. Maybe not for those who have 10 or 12 pounds to lose, but it's a different story with the woman who is toting considerable excess.

Ida Jean Kain

Perhaps another reducer's experience will spark your interest in making that all - important start toward healthy, normal weight. A correspondent writes:

"I had always weighed 115 pounds until I had an operation. After that I started to gain weight and went from a slim 14 to a very tight 18.

—:—

"HERE ARE SOME of the excuses I gave myself. 'My mother had once weighed 180 pounds and my father weighed 210, so I had to be stout. Besides, after an operation everyone gets fat—' and so on.

"I am a nurse and one day I took a case in a private hospital and there everyone referred to me as the fat nurse! Although I could squeeze into a size 18 uniform, I started wearing a size 20 because I thought I wouldn't look so stout.

"I had been reading your column but didn't have the intestinal fortitude to stop eating sweets and fried foods. But one column jolted me into action . . . it was about a woman who claimed that taking off the extra 50 pounds was the greatest favor she ever did for herself, including her feet.

"I went to the doctor and he put me on a diet of vegetables, fruits, skim milk, broiled meat, eggs, cottage cheese and 2 thin slices of bread and one potato. The important thing was that he gave me something to curb my appetite for two weeks, and some easy exercises to do.

"The first week I lost 5 pounds and since then I've lost 2 pounds a week. At last my stomach has shrunk and I no longer crave to eat sweets between meals. I feel much better, my feet do not ache now and my ankles do not swell."

Nice going! This reducer found the appetite curbers a definite help. But dieters, please note that the nurse took the appetite curbers for just two weeks . . . only long enough to enable her to get the upper hand on appetite.

Medication of this kind is helpful for a limited time only. The real solution is to change your food habits.

—:—

THAT'S EXACTLY what this nurse set out to do, and having succeeded, she will be able to control her weight through the right pattern of eating. By decreasing her food capacity, she no longer wants to overeat.

It's a comfort to know that other overweights have a tough time too. But the fact that they succeed in the face of the same obstacles that you face can give you the courage to take action. And action always gets results.

Send a long stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper.

2 Churches Pool Efforts For Overseas

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Churches, long in process of uniting, have agreed to pool resources, staff and programs for overseas missionary work.

The action was taken here Tuesday. The mission groups of the two denominations are holding four-day meetings that continue through Thursday.

Delegates voted to create the United Church Board for World Ministries. This will combine the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions of the Congregational Christian Churches and the Board of International Missions of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The two agencies will unite under the charter granted to the American board in 1812 in Massachusetts. The merger necessitates a petition to the legislature of Massachusetts for a change of name and organization under the charter—an action that may take a year's time.

Also, the United Church of Christ's General Synod must pass on a draft constitution next July formalizing the union of the two denominations.

Meanwhile, the two boards will plan their programs jointly and share resources and staff. The American Board operates in 14 countries and four continents and has a 1959 budget of $2,278,000. The Board of International Missions operates in eight countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America and its budget this year is $1,300,000.

The Chicago White Sox took over the American League lead last season on July 28 and were never headed.

Former Rem-Cru Official Promoted

William C. McKee has been appointed staff assistant to the vice president of finance at the Crucible Steel Co. at Pittsburgh. He was formerly supervisor of internal auditing.

McKee's association with Crucible began in 1956 when he joined Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., then jointly owned by Crucible and the Remington Arms Co., at the Midland works. He held the position of secretary and assistant treasurer. Shortly after Crucible acquired full ownership of Rem-Cru in 1957, and the facility became an operating division of the company, McKee was transferred to Crucible's central offices in Pittsburgh as supervisor of internal auditing. Before joining Rem-Cru he worked for Haskins & Sells, certified public accountants in Pittsburgh, and for the Greer Steel Co. in Morgantown.

A native of Beaver, McKee was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh in 1938 with a bachelor of science degree in business administration.

He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and National Association of Accountants.

During World War II, McKee was with the Military Intelligence Service in the Central Pacific.

By GARRY MEYERS

'No Homework' Problem Discussed

Most pupils beyond the fifth grade have regular assignments to be done outside of class. By the ninth or tenth grade there often is a free period when they can work at these assignments. But this time is rarely enough. Besides, many a child fools away his time at this period, even though assigned to a study hall. Yet this may be the very child who at home says, "I have no home-work. I do it all at my free period at school." A few other children of the upper grades are always forgetting to bring their books home. From Ohio, a mother writes of her son, 11:

By Garry Meyers

—:—

"HIS ATTITUDE in school is horrible. He repeatedly tells us he has no homework and when the teacher asks him to turn it in he says he didn't do it and to give him an 'F.'

"He balk at instructions or being told to do a certain job and does only what he chooses to do.

"He never was an 'A' student, but last year and again this year has fallen to a 'D' and 'F' student. We've talked, taken away privileges and punished him until we don't know what else to try."

My reply, in part:

If on any evening before school your son says he has no homework, require him to read from a book or magazine (not a comic book) for at least an hour. Then ask him some questions about what he has read or have him tell you briefly the substance of it.

HOLD HIM to some regular jobs at home and require him to be in the house at a certain time each evening before school. Don't punish him for not doing well at school, but only for not getting down to mental work each evening or doing chores and conforming to family regulations.

His having to sit unamused where you can see him doing nothing for 40 minutes might prove effective punishment. Then you would have to use corporal punishment only if he left the chair too soon.

Almost surely he is a poor reader and needs to practice with reading materials much easier than his school books. It might be a good investment to hire a kind but exacting man-teacher to work with this lad for a brief period several evenings a week.

—:—

MOST OF all, try to cultivate a happier home relationship and help him feel more worthwhile as a person and member of the family.

My bulletins, "Home Helps for Poor Readers II" and "Parents and the Child's Homework," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Trial Is Launched On Manslaughter

LISBON — Opening statements and testimony began this morning in Common Pleas Court for the second degree manslaughter trial of Jack W. Bartson, 21, of Fremont, whose truck struck a car May 16 on Route 7, killing 2 persons.

He was indicted by the September Grand Jury in the deaths of Frank Cameron, 64, and his son, William, 42, both of Lisbon R. D. 3. The accident occurred 2.5 miles north of the Route 30 junction.

The jury was sworn in Tuesday noon by Judge Joel H. Sharp and went immediately to the scene of the accident and then was excused until this morning.

The jurors are Nathan Weinbren, Helen M. Treleven and Geraldine R. Myler of East Liverpool; Beulah Plate of Wellsville, Carl Zimmerman and Lloyd Loop of Salem, Ruth Hinchliffe and Jess Ballantine of Lisbon.

Kathryn Weaver of Salineville, Beryl Fitzpatrick of Columbiana, Lucille Schmid of Leetonia, and Velma L. Zepernick of Kensington. Mark Barlow of Wellsville is alternate.

LEGAL NOTICES

1. SALE OF SURPLUS WATER OR SEWAGE SERVICE

Proposing to amend section 6 of Article XVIII of the constitution of the state of Ohio relative to the sale of the surplus product of municipal owned water and sewage systems.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, Three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner prescribed by law, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, a proposition to amend section 6 of Article XVIII of the Constitution of the state of Ohio as follows:

ARTICLE XVIII

Sec. 6. Any municipality, owning or operating a public utility for the purpose of supplying the service or product thereof to the municipality or its inhabitants, may also sell and deliver to others any transportation service of such utility and the surplus product of any other utility in an amount not exceeding in either case fifty per  cent of the total service or product supplied by such utility within the municipality, provided that such fifty per cent limitation shall not apply to the sale of water or sewage services.

SCHEDULE

At the election herein designated for the submission of this amendment to the electors of the state of Ohio, the same shall be placed on the official ballot in the manner prescribed by law and shall be designated as follows:

YES	Shall section 6 of Article XVIII of the Constitution of the state of Ohio be amended to remove the limitation on the sale of water and sewage services by municipalities outside their corporate limits?
NO

The required publication of the said proposed amendment shall be made and the form of ballot to be used in said election for the submission thereof shall be prepared by the secretary of state of the state of Ohio in substantial conformity with the above provisions. If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendments at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, adopt the same, it shall be part of the Constitution of the state of Ohio and existing section 6 of Article XVIII shall thereupon be repealed.

2. ADDTIONAL JUDGES IN COURTS OF APPEALS

Proposing to amend section 6 of Article IV of the constitution of the state of Ohio to authorize the legislature to provide for additional judges in courts of appeals.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, Three-fifths of the members of each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, in the manner prescribed by law, at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, a proposition to amend section 6 of Article IV of the constitution of the state of Ohio as follows:

ARTICLE IV

Sec. 6. The state shall be divided into appellate districts of compact territory bounded by county lines, in each of which there shall be a court of appeals consisting of three judges. Laws may be passed increasing the number of judges in any district wherein the volume of business may require such additional judge or judges. In districts having additional judges, three judges shall participate in the hearing and disposition of each case. Vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of office of the judges of the courts of appeals shall be filled by the electors of the respective appellate districts in which such vacancies shall arise. Until otherwise provided by law the term of office of such judges shall be six years. Laws may be passed to prescribe the time and mode of such election and the qualifications of such judges, and to alter the number of districts or the boundaries thereof, but no such change shall abridge the term of any judge then in office. The court of appeals shall hold at least one term annually in each county in the district and such other terms at a county seat in the district as the judges may determine upon, and the county commissioners of any county in which the court of appeals shall hold sessions shall make proper and convenient provisions for the holding of such court by its judges and officers. Each judge shall be competent to exercise judicial powers in any appellate district of the state.

The courts of appeals shall have original jurisdiction in quo warranto, mandamus, habeas corpus, prohibition and procedendo, and such jurisdiction as may be provided by law to review, affirm, modify, set aside, or reverse judgments or final orders of boards, commissions, officers, or tribunals, and of courts of record inferior to the court of appeals within the district, and judgments of the courts of appeals shall be final in all cases, except cases involving questions arising under the constitution of the United States or of this state, cases of felony, cases of which it has original jurisdiction, and cases of public or great general interest in which the supreme court may direct any court of appeals to certify its record to that court. No judgment of any court of record entered on the verdict of the jury shall be set aside or reversed on the weight of the evidence except by the concurrence of all three judges of a court of appeals. Only a majority of such court of appeals shall be necessary to pronounce a decision, make an order or enter judgment, upon all other questions; and whenever the judges of a court of appeals find that a judgment upon which they have agreed is in conflict with a judgment pronounced upon the same question by any other court of appeals of the state, the judges shall certify the record of the case to the supreme court for review and final determination. The decisions in all cases in the supreme court shall be reported, together with the reasons therefor, and laws may be passed providing for the reporting of cases in the courts of appeals. The chief justice of the supreme court of the state may assign any judge of the court of appeals to any county to hold court. The chief justice of the supreme court shall determine the disability or disqualification of any judge of the court of appeals. ***

SCHEDULE

If a majority of the electors voting on the foregoing proposed amendment at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1959, adopt the same, it shall become part of the constitution of the state of Ohio, and existing section 6 of Article IV shall thereupon be repealed.

Movies Shown Booster Club

Some 120 attended a meeting of the Midland Leopards Boosters Club Tuesday evening in the St. Anthony Club and 12 became members.

Phillip Tridico, new Lincoln junior high school basketball coach was introduced. Charles Polce, line coach, spoke on the Lincoln High School football team and conducted a question-and-answer session.

Movies were shown of the 1958 Central Dauphin-Steelton game, last week's Midland - Rochester game, and the 1958 Pitt-Notre Dame game. Refreshments were served during the social.

During business, the club decided to purchase "Boost the Leopards of Midland" plates to sell to motorists to attach to front bumpers. Ralph Bernabie is chairman.

Plans were discussed for a wrestling agent to speak during an officers' meeting to be set later, and for a basketball game between Dick Groat's squad and the Pitt Gridders, Pittsburgh University football players who play basketball. Groat is a shortstop for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Social committee for next meeting will include Edmund DiCiccio, chairman, Art LaValle, Alex Vranes, Joe Spanik and Ray Calaber. Next meeting will be announced.

Angelo Cellini, president, presided.

PTA At Wellsville Will Hold Halloween Party For Pupils

Plans for a Halloween party for the students Oct. 30 were outlined at a meeting of the Wellsville McKinley Parent - Teacher Association Monday night.

The homeroom mothers will bake cookies for the event. The PTA will furnish a soft drink.

Mrs. William Daugherty, child's librarian at the Carnegie Library, was guest speaker. She outlined the use and operation of the new children's library in her talk entitled "The New Children's Library." She urged parents to have their children read. Mrs. Daugherty was introduced by Mrs. William Bush, program chairman.

The Rev. Arden Beck of the First Methodist Church conducted devotions. Donald Stoll accompanied group singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

A bake sale will be held Nov. 7 at the MacLean Insurance Co. office. Mrs. Dominick D'Angelo of the ways and means committee reported $123.61 realized from a recent rummage sale.

The first and second grades, taught by Mrs. Alex Fraser, won the attendance banner.

It was announced a Beaver photographer will take pictures of the students. They will be delivered before Christmas.

Lunch was served by fourth grade homeroom mothers. The next meeting will be Nov. 16.

Parole Right Dimmed By Latest Violation

A 19-year-old Weirton youth who "rolled" an intoxicated inmate of the Hancock County Jail last week and stole $400 from him pleaded guilty at a hearing Tuesday before Judge J. H. Brennan.

Walter Cox Steiner, one of two prisoners who escaped from jail Sept. 11, probably now will have to serve every single day of his 1-5-year prison sentence for jailbreak.

For "rolling" the intoxicated prisoner, Judge Brennan withdrew a recommendation for early prison parole for Steiner, who beat the prisoner while awaiting commitment to Moundsville State Penitentiary.

Steiner was in jail for being AWOL from the Navy. He escaped with Robert T. Williams, 29, of Weirton, but they were nabbed a day later in Marshall County.

Williams also drew a long prison term for jailbreak and assaulting a sheriff's deputy during the escape.

Salem Man To Aid Study

SALEM — Atty. Guy Mauro has been appointed to a special committee to study the problems of the severely mentally retarded in Ohio.

Atty. Mauro was named by Raymond O. Horn, director of the state Division of Special Education to the committee, which was suggested by Gov. Michael DiSalle.

Others on the committee are Jay Shuer of Toledo, Ohio Association of Retarded Children; Dr. Mary Boyd, Clinton County health commissioner; Dr. Lewis Ralston of Niles, Ohio School Boards Assn.; Dr. Roger Gove, superintendent of the Columbus State School; Gordon Humbert, Lima public school superintendent, and Thomas Quick, Franklin County school superintendent.

The committee will determine which state department can best administer and expand a current community class program for the severely retarded.

Horn says he hopes to get the committee organized early next month.

Boy Dies In Fire

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Billy Joe Hamm, 12, died Tuesday night in a fire that destroyed his home just west of Marion, Sheriff's deputies said. The rest of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Lorren E. Hamm and their nine other children, escaped. Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Hammondsville PTA To Buy School Music Instruments

HAMMONDSVILLE — Purchase of used musical instruments for elementary school pupils was announced by Mrs. William Burton, president, as the project for 1959 when the Parent-Teacher Association convened Monday night.

It was agreed to sponsor a refreshment booth at a Christmas program by pupils to obtain funds for purchasing the wind instruments. Mrs. Dorothy Millhorn was named food booth chairman.

The program included musical selections by the Barber Curls, a women's vocal quartet from the Sweet Adelines Chapter of East Liverpool. Mrs. Eva Parsons was program chairman.

During business, it was reported that a study course for PTA members and officers will be held Oct. 27 and Nov. 4 in Springfield Township High School. Mrs. Elmer James of Alliance, district director, will be leader. The series began yesterday.

In response to a request that the Stanton Local Board of Education eliminate a sharp curve on a school bus route, Frank Gruszecki told the group that the board had agreed to install sewers on one side of a county road. The sewers will be covered with dirt and thus result in a widder space for the bus to negotiate a sharp turn.

Stanley Baker, a member of the board, said the school bus involved in the situation had been sent to Steubenville where the steering mechanism was adjusted so that the bus wheels could be turned sharper.

Gruszecki also reported that first aid kits are available if principals request them.

A coverdish supper was planned for old and new members Nov. 24 at 7 p. m. in the school. Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Parsons were named co-chairmen. Mrs. Burton reported that new benches and tables have been built for school pupils and that oil cloth has been bought to cover lunchroom tables. The next meeting is Nov. 16.

Fairview Grange Votes To Back Borough Bid

Members of the Fairview Grange of Ohio Township voted Tuesday evening to support the township's Board of Supervisors and a citizens' committee in a bid for borough status.

Supervisors and citizens will meet tonight at 8 in the fire hall.

Charles Richards, new master, conducted his first meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Flasco and Mrs. Gen Gianvito.

Next meeting will be Nov. 3 with Mrs. Glenn Hammond and Mrs. Mable Henderson as co - hostesses, at the Grange Hall.

Supreme Court Upsets New Law On Voting Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today in a unanimous opinion upset a new law which required listing of all party candidates on a straight line on voting machines.

The opinion, by the entire court, reversed the 10th District Court of Appeals in Columbus that held the law constitutional.

The straight-line voting issue reached the Supreme Court on conflicting interpretations of the law by the 10th District Court and the First District Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati decision said the new law was unconstitutional.

The Supreme Court affirmed the Cincinnati decision on a vote of 5-2, with Judges Thomas J. Herbert and James F. Bell dissenting.

In reversing the 10th District Court decision, the high court returned the case to the appellate court for further proceedings.
